Cheese giveaway set in Romulus

The next shipment of federal surplus cheese and butter will be made available to Romulus residents between the hours of 11 a.m. and 4 p.m., on Thurs., June 23 at the facilities of the Wayne Metropolitan Community Services Agency.

The agency is located at 35408 Beverly Rd., (old Beverly School building).

Recipients must bring with them proof of residency and financial status. The food will be distributed by the American Progressive Association.

For further information, contact Marie Butler, APA representative, at 728-7510.

'Identi-kid' scheduled

Wayne County Sheriff Robert A. Ficano announced today that his department, working in conjunction with local police agencies, will begin a county wide "Child Print Program."

Children across the country are being fingerprinted and authorities can identify them if they run away from home or are kidnapped. There were 4,622 Michigan children ages 16 or younger missing in 1981.

Sheriff Ficano believes that, with parental approval, children in kindergarten through sixth grade could be fingerprinted and the prints turned over to the parents for safekeeping. Ficano stressed that the program is voluntary and the police keep no files on the children.

The "Child Print Program" gets under way this week at Southland Shopping Center. Sheriff's deputies along with the city of Taylor police officers will be operating a booth within the mall.

"Fiddler on the Roof" casting

This is the first call for actors for the "Fiddler on the Roof" production to be staged at New Boston High School.

Tryouts are set for 7 to 10 p.m., Fri., June 17 and Sat., June 18 from 1 to 4 p.m. in the high school auditorium.

Voters reject millage, bond

Marvicsin - she ran unopposed - is lone winner

Teetering on the brink of financial disaster, Romulus schools learned on Monday that they will receive no help or sympathy from the taxpayers in the school district.

Voters resoundingly rejected three tax proposals on the ballot, saying "No" to a proposal to raise taxes, for money to remove asbestos from the high school walls, and to a bond issue to replace the roofs on three school buildings.

The only apparent winner in Monday's annual school election to incumbent school board trustee, Jo Ann Marvicsin, who ran unopposed for the single board seat unavailable. Mrs. Marvicsin polled 1,177 votes.

A subdued and silent board of education received the "bad news" Monday night.

"It's no fun to be on a board of education when you can't get enough money to operate or even repair a roof let alone remove asbestos from the high school," said Dan Bales, President of the Board of Education.

"In fact, it's downright depressing."

Voters rejected the asbestos removal millage proposition to the tune of 1,220 to 839, while they were against the roof replacement bond proposition 1,361 to 685 and they turned their back on the additional 3-mill tax hike, 1464 to 587.

Dr. Bedell didn't have a word to say when he looked at the final tally.

His face read: "disappointment".

In the midst of financial turmoil, the school board last December voted to roll back teachers' salaries 14 percent (however, teachers say that figure is 22 percent). There have been two teacher pickets of the school board in recent months, protesting the cutback.

Whether the state health officials will step in and order the school district to get rid of the asbestos is moot at present. None of the school officials wished to comment after the latest setback.

Blanchard appreciates school's problems

If the Romulus Board of Education and Supt. of Schools William Bedell were hoping that Lansing would pay more attention to the plight of the schools, they discovered this week that Gov. James Blanchard has more crucial problems to attend to than Romulus.

Dr. Bedell had written the governor in hopes of soliciting more financial help, and to lift some of the uncertainties surrounding the present administration's aid of education programs. However, Gov. Blanchard's response was all but optimistic.

Blanchard wrote:

Dear Dr. Bedell:

"Thank you for your letter regarding the financing of public elementary and secondary schools in Michigan. I apologize for the delay in responding to you.

"I fully appreciate the financial difficulties currently experienced by local school districts and I regard our growing number of out-of-formula districts as a pressing problem that must be addressed as soon as possible by increases in general membership state aid.

Such increases will be possible once Michigan begins a sustained recovery from its current depression, our most severe and persistent since the 1930s. As you know, our state tax revenues during this period have dropped substantially while public assistance payments for our growing number of unemployed have risen.

"As a result, we have had no choice but to cut spending in other areas, including state aid to our public schools. These cuts, while clearly painful, are the unavoidable consequence of our economic depression. They will be restored as Michigan's economic recovery develops. We in Michigan have enjoyed a tradition of excellence in public education and the continuation of that tradition is vital to our well-being.

"The first priority of my administration is the economic revitalization of Michigan and the support of education is a major means to that end. A sound Michigan economy and a strong system of public

With a smile

Whether it was the near 90-degree heat or apathy, most voters stayed away from the voting polls during Monday's annual school elections. Above, Romulus resident Geneva Dugan smiles for the photographer as she leaves the voting booth after casting her ballot. Two crucial millage levies were turned down both in the Romulus and Huron school districts, leaving school officials wondering what their next steps will be. None plan to reintroduce the propositions in the near future.

Van Buren to ask for 6 more mills

With the annual school elections out of the way, Van Buren voters have an August 2 date to return to the polls to decide whether they will finance the restoration of school programs.

The Board of Education Monday night voted to place a 6.2 mill proposal (a mill is $1 per $1000 of assessed property valuation) on the Aug. 2 ballot.

With Dr. Antoinette Schieler absent from the proceedings, the six members went into executive session, and when they returned to the board room they agreed to ask the voters for the additional millage.

The 6.5 mill tax levy is for a five year period.

30th class

The 30th graduation class of Huron High School marched to the Pomp and Circumstance of Elgar, Friday, June 10.

Some 143 students received their diplomas at a ceremony held in the high school auditorium on Huron River Drive. Clare Gumtow Goyings, the first valedictorian of Huron High School in 1953, was the guest speaker.

She is now a resident of Plainwell, in the Kalamazoo area.

By 2-1 margin

Huron proposals also defeated

By JERRY DESHARNAIS
(Special ANP Writer)

A stunning defeat was dealt to a 3-mill request in the Huron School District election Monday.

By a margin of almost 2-1, four different proposals asking for money for buses, maintenance, counseling, and music, art and physical education instruction were rejected.

More than 1160 voters cast their ballots under sunny skies at

The voter turnout was about as large as that of the June 1981 millage election which was also defeated, in that case by a 3-1 margin.

It was apparent that of the 1160 voters, a solid 750 were absolutely opposed to all four proposals.

Some 350 voters were in favor of all four.

Surprisingly, the first two proposals for buses and maintenance, considered the "bread-and-butter" issues, got little more support than the remaining two proposals which were regarded as less negotiable.

Prior to the vote count, School Supt. Gary Jackson was asked for his projection of the vote outcome and he replied that he felt that the first two proposals had a good chance of passing.

He was not as hopeful for the third and fourth proposals.

Nevertheless, the third proposal, asking for school counseling, was as much a barometer of voter sentiment as any, since it was requested against the backdrop of the threatened loss of school accreditation of Huron High School.

Yet, 820 voted against the proposal for counseling, the largest negative vote on the ballot. Some 347 voted for it.

"I'm very disappointed in the outcome" said Jim W. Pershing, President of the School Board, "especially in light of the fact that we didn't have the organized opposition this time.

"At this time we are at a loss on what we're going to do with the program next year."

Supt. Jackson was asked his reaction:

"My reaction is that I guess I've reached a conclusion that people with kids in school are outnumbered by people who don't have kids in school and the people who don't have kids in school aren't responsible enough to provide the kids with an education similar to the one that they had.

"Consequently, the funding formula somehow has got to be changed or in 20 or 30 years our nation is going to be in great difficulty."

SHIRLEY BURGESS

Pershing, Burgess are winners in Huron

Jim W. Pershing was re-elected to a fourth consecutive term on the Huron School Board.

In results tabulated from Monday's election, Pershing polled 531 votes, the second highest tally of the three candidates for the two posts on the Board.

Surprisingly, Shirley Burgess, running for office for the first time, received the highest count, 554 votes, winning the other position.

Burgess is the Transportation Supervisor of Gibraltar School District.

Richard Town, also making his first bid for office, received 462 votes, and placed third.

The position of trustee on the Board is a four-year term.

143 graduate at Huron High

Paul James Masson, who achieved a perfect academic grade point average of 4.00 over a four-year period, was the 1983 class valedictorian.

The Salutatorian is Timothy Johnson, who maintained a 3.97 average. Awards for honors were incorporated in the commencement program to acknowledge the achievements of the students before the approximately 1100 (See GRADUATION Page 3)

LAJKO MEMORIAL

Huron park named for Vietnam War hero

On Sunday, June 5, at a clearing in five acres of land located at Huron River Drive and West Road, a park was dedicated to the memory of Cpl. Robert Dennis Lajko.

His name was submitted in a community contest four years ago by a sixth-grade boy, Paul Novicki. Paul attends Huron High School now, and is age 14.

Paul thought the name of Robert Dennis Lajko would be fitting for the community's park.

Young Paul's father, Bob Novicki, is a life-long friend of Paul Lajko and his wife Irene. Lajko's son, on December 27, was killed in action in Vietnam. He was 20.

Robert Dennis Lajko was a friend of the family who young Paul Novicki never knew.

"Not a cloud in the sky. Perfectly blue," said Chris Gamber, Treasurer of Huron Township who with the Supervisor, A.J. Haener, Clerk Mary Lou Carey, and Bill Nagy, chairman of Recreation Committee, attended the ceremony with some 200 people.

An Army color guard from Livonia, in royal blue pants and dark blue jackets, raised and lowered the flag in Lajko's honor at the ceremony.

The length of the ceremony, about 35 minutes, or perhaps the heat of the black, white, and red uniforms proved too much for three members of the Huron High School band, who passed out.

The band played the National Anthem and America the Beautiful, and the brother of Robert Dennis Lajko, Paul, who now resides in Traverse City with his wife and two children, was asked to lead the pledge of allegiance.

Instead, he asked young Paul Novicki to do it, because "without Paul the park would not be named for my brother."

The highlight of the dedication was the presentation of the medals that were lost. In the late Fall, 1981, a fire had gutted the residence of the parents of Cpl. Lajko. All that remained was the concrete structure on which the present house was built.

Most valuables were lost, including the dozen medals of their late son.

Commander John Grant of the VFW Post in Carleton presented the Lajko's with a new set of medals, including the Purple Star and Silver Star.

The medals were acquired through the efforts of U.S. Cong. William Ford, Rep. Rick Sitz, Rep. Ed Mahalak, and Rep. Richard Sullivan.

Sullivan also read a tribute from the State Legislature, signed by Gov. James Blanchard:

"let it be known, That we are proud..." it began, and cited his achievements, including two Vietnam Air Medals for flying numerous missions over Vietnam.

Nearby the ceremony, two baseball diamonds in the little park were ready for the official opening that Sunday afternoon.

"LET IT BE KNOWN, That we are proud..." it began, and cited his achievements, including two Vietnam Air Medals for flying numerous missions over Vietnam.

The father of Robert Dennis Lajko threw out the first pitch.

Hot dogs and pop were served.

One of the songs played by the high school band during the ceremony was "On A Wonderful Day Like Today."

She's a winner

"I was really surprised. Really." That's how pretty 20-year-old Stephanie Perecki summed up her feeling when she learned that she was the winner of the recent Associated Newspapers' Michigan Week drawing.

Miss Perecki's prize is a 3-day trip to Sugar Loaf resort in Traverse City. She said she'd be taking that trip in late August.

The winner was picked during a random drawing from entries submitted to participating merchants in Romulus during Michigan Week. She said she had entered her name at several local stores.

"You know this is the first time I've ever won a Business Week. When they called my name I couldn't believe it."

Air show has ups, downs

Over 50,000 people attended the Detroit Willow Run Air Show last Saturday and Sunday. For anyone who had never before attended an air show, this display of military and general aviation was spectacular and was enhanced by the first splendid weekend weather of the season.

The navy Blue Angels were the featured performers of the show sponsored for the second year by the Wayne County Road Commission in association with the Yankee Air Force, a non profit group of aircraft buffs dedicated to restoration and preservation of historic military aircraft.

Although the show featured military aircraft from past and present, there were numerous civilian static and flying exhibits including several ultra-lights, a motorized 65 mile per hour step above hang gliding.

At the other end of the civilian speed scale was Jerry Mercer's BD5-J microjet, a jet version of a homebuilt experimental aircraft product originally available as a pusherprop kit some years ago but now out of production. Jerry Mercer presented a routine demonstration of the aerobatic capabilities of the BD5-J. The 515 pound aircraft is powered by a 211 pound-thrust turbojet engine which pushes the plane to a cruising speed of 250 miles per hour.

In April 1971, Leo Loudenslager made the first test flight in his just completed Stephens Akro. After years of modifications, that airplane evolved into the Laser 200, the little red single wing aerobatic performance airplane that has eclipsed the Pitts flight hours and over 300 carrier landings to his credit and has been performing with the Blue Angels since October of 1981. Scott was born in Molokai, Hawaii and raised in Richardson, Texas and is a graduate of Annapolis Naval Academy.

'The three commanders'

Special as the finest unlimited aerobatic competition aircraft in the world.

In 1975, Loudenslager beat 20 Pitts Specials to take the U.S. Aerobatic Championship held for many years by pilots of Curtis Pitts Specials. He has since won 6 more U.S. Championships.

Loudenslager's performance of aerobatic maneuvers was a first class demonstration of a pilot at one with his machine.

The Eagles Aerobatic Flight Team (flying 3 Christensen Eagles) and the Canadian Ray-Ban Gold Aerobatic Team (flying Pitts Special S-2A's) thrilled the large crowd with their close precision team performances and the U.S. Army Golden Knights' 9 man team (actually 8 men and 1 woman) demonstrated the amazing capabilities of the para-foil type parachutes which bear no resemblance to the survival 'chutes worn by military pilots.

During the Yankee Air Force's fly-by demonstration of historic military aircraft of WWII the lumbering grace of the B-25 Mitchell bomber was contrasted to the heart-stopping screams of two P-51's. Five T-6 Texans, an AD-1 Skyraider, a Tp28 Trojan, and a British Supermarine Spitfire Mk-9 fighter (of Battle of Britain fame) were also demonstrated in flight.

The best is better savored last and so it was with the Navy's Blue Angels flight demonstration team. The team flies an unusual aircraft in that it was never proto-typed. Only 19 months after conception, the first preproduction plane flew on June 22, 1954 as an A4D-1 Skyhawk, a light weight navy carrier fighter-bomber. The aircraft was 20 years and many modifications into production, when the Blue Angels assumed the highly successful fighter in 1974 designated the McDonnell Douglas A-4F Skyhawk II.

The Blue Angeles performance is truly a credit to the professionalism of the military. Flying only 36 inches apart, these 6 men faultlessly perform complex maneuvers at speeds sometimes exceeding 500 miles per hour. Flight leader Commander Dave Carroll controls the flight through its aerobatics and the other team members place their confidence in his ability as they line up on his aircraft through maneuvers taking them from "on the deck" to altitudes of over a mile in about 7 seconds to begin a loop.

As the loop is completed the pilots add faith to their confidence as they ignore the onrushing ground to guide on their leader alone.

The Yankee Air Force had the prime responsibility for crowd control and supervision, an immense undertaking in which they were very ably assisted by volunteers from Civil Air Patrols and Explorer Scouts.

Local police units did an unusually fast job of emptying the parking lots and feeding traffic out of the area.

It was a weekend this reporter and 50,000 other visitors cannot forget.

County to patrol Belleville Lake

Wayne County Sheriff Robert A. Ficano announced today that his department will resume patrol of Belleville Lake.

In a press release, Ficano said that "The Wayne County Sheriff's Department is back on the waters of Wayne County." The county's Marine Division was a victim of financial cutbacks two years ago.

Opening ceremonies for the Wayne County Sheriff's Marine Safety Division are planned for 11 a.m., Thursday, June 16 in Belleville. The Marine Division will consist of 80 highly-trained deputies operating four boats stationed on Belleville Lake, Lake St. Clair, the Detroit River and Lake Erie.

"I have been doing some research, and have found that Wayne County has 80,000 registered boat owners within its borders," Ficano added, "and that we have 142 square miles of water for people to enjoy."

"The Sheriff's Marine Division will be patrolling these areas with eight highly trained marine law enforcement deputies. My deputies will be working closely with local city police and we also will be working in conjunction with the Department of Natural Resources."

Sheriff Ficano pointed out that the county's marine division will be paying special attention to "the increased criminal activity and vandalism that occurs around this time of the year around boat clubs and marinas."

"Working with the Belleville Police, I believe we can greatly curtail this problem area. Boat owners should be able to enjoy the same peace of mind that a homeowner feels regarding his property safety," Ficano added.

The Sheriff's Marine Division deputies, as part of their responsibilities, will also conduct boat safety classes, the newly-installed sheriff noted.

The Marine Division will be funded, in part, by the state. In fact, two-thirds of the Marine Patrol budget is funded by Michigan.

"With this new marine safety program in operation, anyone who uses the waters of Wayne County can do so with the knowledge that a professional team of law enforcement officers trained in search and rescue operations will be out there with them," Sheriff Ficano concluded.

Constables 'obsolete'

Huron decides it can survive without them

By JERRY DESHARNAIS
(Special ANP Writer)

By unanimous vote, the Huron Township Board abolished the office of constable.

The decision was made at a regular meeting last week.

"Constables are really a thing of the past unless they are certified officers," said Clerk Mary Lou Carey. "They have few legal and binding duties."

There was little discussion prior to the vote. It was noted that a constable may not be used even in emergencies to replace regular officers since a constable does not have certified training.

The use of a constable has diminished generally in urban areas in recent years where the village or township has a full-time police department or a sheriff's department.

The Township has been required by law to finance the purchase of a $1,000 performance bond to insure each constable over a four-year period.

Until several years ago, there were four constables in Huron. This decision abolishes the remaining two.

Constables are elected in regular election every four years.

In other business, Township Supervisor A. J. Haener informed the Board that he had met with bank officials regarding the sale of the Glenn Building and Bowling Alley in New Boston.

The Township has expressed interest in the building as a possible new site for the Town Hall.

Haener said the bank, which owns the mortgage, is asking $70,000 for the two buildings which includes the former printing office and the bowling alley.

"I make no recommendation," Haener told the board.

Haener advised that the board members make an inspection of the facility as he and the Treasurer and Clerk had done.

Discussion of the Glenn Building was tabled until the next meeting when all members of the Board shall have inspected it.

In other matters, Township Attorney Dick James presented a copy of a proposed ordinance regarding the Flea Market in New Boston.

Considerable discussion ensued regarding the language of the ordinance, particularly as to the distinction between a Flea Market and "open outdoor casual sales", the latter a more generic term applying to all outdoor entrepreneurial activity such as a rummage sale.

It was agreed that the ordinance should apply specifically to regulation of the Flea Market alone or any future commercial endeavor in which land is leased to a businessman to procure profit.

Attorney James told the Board he would provide that specific language in the next draft of the ordinance for the upcoming Township meeting.

Manufacturers Bank installs Manuway Banking center

Manufacturers Bank has installed a new ManuWay Banking Center at its branch office at 36450 Goddard in Romulus.

Located in the sheltered vestibule of the office, this automated facility will allow routine banking transactions to be handled easily and conveniently, 24 hours a day, seven days a week.

Although the machine belongs to Manufacturers Bank, customers of over 125 Michigan banks, savings and loans, and credit unions that belong to the shared Magic Line system will also be able to access their accounts through the new ManuWay machine.

With a plastic access card and personal identification number from a participating financial institution, customers can use ManuWay or any of the more than 900 Magic Line locations across Michigan to accomplish the following banking transactions:

- Withdraw cash from checking and/or statement savings accounts;

- make deposits to checking and/or statement savings accounts;

- Transfer funds between checking or statement savings accounts;

education go hand in hand.

Indeed, they are mutually reinforcing. Thus, reversal of the current decline in state school aid, which has fallen to approximately the 1976-77 levels, depends upon the state's economic recovery. This recovery, in turn, requires the restoration of Michigan's fiscal integrity. Specifically, we must close both the $900 million budget deficit projected for the current fiscal year, which ends on September 30, and the accrued deficit of more than $800 million created by accounting deviations which date back to 1975.

"This combined deficit of more than $1.7 billion has cost our state hundreds of millions of dollars annually in added interest costs and missed investment opportunities.

"This deficit can be eliminated and Michigan's fiscal integrity restored, however, by means of the recently enacted program of tax increases and spending reductions. As you know, this program calls for a $225 million reduction in the FY82-83 budget to be shared by the departments and spending programs of state government including education, further reductions in the size of state government, and a two-part increase in the state income tax. The measures are stern, but they are necessary to restore Michigan's fiscal integrity and, indeed, our future. Moreover, they are essential for the recovery of our state economy and the financial well-being of our public schools.

"With regard to your question concerning categorical aid, I believe the categorical aid deduction for out-of-formula districts is an equitable way of increasing the revenue available for distribution through our general membership formula. In this way we can at least partially contain the growth of the fiscal disparities between in-formula and out-of-formula districts. The recapture mechanism serves our basic objective of assuring local school districts of equal per pupil revenue for equal tax effort.

"I appreciate your evident concern for the educational welfare of our children. Again, thank you for writing," Blanchard concludes.

A horse in the house

Was that a foal whinny? Or just a filly neigh?

JERRY DESHARNAIS
(Special ANP Writer)

Most households endure the whiny child.

The Rushlow household endures the whinny of a horse.

It is unreal, and it is practical.

At 10 p.m., May 6, one of their best purebred Arabian mares gave birth to a filly, sired by Baskmond the son of a world champion stallion named Bask.

A normal pregnancy of a horse is 11 months, but the filly was born 20 days early. There were no complications.

As usual, Sally Rushlow attended the birth, as she has done in the past with all of the foals born on the 36-acre show horse-riding lesson farm on the corner of Middle Belt and Bredon in Huron Township.

The following morning, a Saturday, the mare showed signs of colic, a stomach disorder, and was immediately transported to a veterinarian hospital in South Lyon.

The mare, named Bint Silviraz, was put on the operating table for three hours, but her stomach disorder was determined unrecoverable and she had to be put away.

The Rushlow's attention turned to the foal who had to be bottle-fed every 1½ hours. That would require a lot of trips to the barn. That would require a lot of trips to the barn. And Sally and Jerry Rushlow already have two little children to feed: Marggie, age 3; Louis, 8 months.

So talking the problem over the breakfast table they hit upon a solution.

Since they were in the process of putting an addition on the back of the house, a large living room which had not yet been carpeted, why not bring the baby horse in the house for six weeks until it can feed itself.

A makeshift pen of straw was constructed and she was brought in that day, Mother's Day, May 8, a chestnut 2-day-old named "Little Bint".

Country & Western music calms her so the radio plays 24 hours a day. She likes to cuddle up to people because she thinks they are her mother. She drank milk out of a bucket for the first time May 28.

And Sally Rushlow's unique opinion of a horse as member of the family?

"Quite a Mother's Day present," she smiled, then added: "She whinnies when she's hungry. It's kind of funny to hear a whinny in the morning instead of an alarm clock."

And probably more pleasant.

Community Block Grant Funds

Local government units await word from county

Wayne County Executive William Lucas announced today that information was released to the Board of Commissioners relative to the county's application for $2,079,000 in Community Development Block Grant Funds stemming from the Federal Emergency Jobs Bill.

If approved by the Board of Commissioners and the United States Department of Housing and Urban Development (HUD), Wayne County will use the $2 million to construct and improve fire protection, water and sewer facilities, park and recreational facilities, and neighborhood facilities. Additional expenditures would improve streets and sidewalks, rehabilitate some private properties, and remove architectural barriers.

The communities targeted for improvements are: Belleville, Brownstown, Ecorse, Flat Rock, Garden City, Gilbralter, Harper Woods, Huron Township, Melvindale, River Rouge, Romulus, Southgate, Sumpter Township, Wayne and Wyandotte.

A highlight of the CDBG is that none of the monies will be used for administrative costs, but represents a supplemental appropriation to existing grants.

If the application is approved, Belleville will receive $52,537 to provide funding for full-time employment to two individuals for the purpose of code enforcement for a period of one year.

Huron Township's 14,653 will be utilized for insulation of exterior walls and ceilings to two fire stations, while Romulus is earmarked to receive $241,793 for improvements to 300,000 linear feet of storm drainage system. The job must commence by August of 1983. Sumpter Township's share of $66,774 will go to renovate a vacant structure. In order to bring the unit to existing state commercial code for use as a neighborhood facility and in Van Buren Township, the application provides for $84,424 to be used for public services.

Van Buren to host noted astrologer

Do you want to know what's in the future for you?

Careful, now... However, if you did answer in the affirmative, then ask astrologer Linda Sopko. She will be teaching classes at Van Buren Township, 46425 Tyler Rd.

Classes will start on June 30, at 7 until 9 p.m., and cost $45 per student for eight weeks of instruction.

Mrs. Sopko has been a professional astrologer for the last eight years. She is a member of the American Federation of Astrologers and the National Council for Geo Cosmic Research, Inc. She has been teaching for the last three years in her home, in the Canton school system and, now most recently, in Van Buren Township.

She firmly believes that astrology is a very useful tool in our everyday lives — it impels, but does not compel our destiny, she says.

Besides teaching, Mrs. Sopko has her own private practice and is currently writing a book for publication on Karmic Astrology. She is also attending Schoolcraft College for an associate's degree in counseling.

PRETTIER SMILE FROM "BONDING"

One of the most exciting revolutions in cosmetic dentistry is the use of composite materials that can be molded onto your teeth to change their shape, fill spaces, and result in the smile you've always wanted.

An acid-etching prepares the tooth surface, the composite is placed on and shaped into the desired appearance and hardens when activated by ultraviolet light. This is today's answer for those who have long been unhappy with the appearance of their smile.

our opinions

School boards must face reality

"In fact, it's downright depressing."

Those words, spoken by Dan Bales, could have been easily spoken by his counterpart, Jim Pershing, president of the Huron School Board.

Both the millage proposals of Romulus and Huron school districts went down in flaming defeat, ingloriously and perhaps definitively.

It would be easy to lash out at the voters but at this point is irrelevant.

The margins of defeat were about 1½-to-1 in Romulus; and in some instances 2-1. In Huron School District it was 2-1.

In both districts the issues were clear: in Romulus, the need for roof replacement for the current dangerous asbestos material; in Huron, the need for money to buy buses, repair a leaky roof, and to provide counseling to fend off a threatened loss of accreditation.

So the resounding NO vote underlines with clarity that going to the voters for money is the last route any perceptive superintendent can take.

We are fairly sure that Supt. Bill Bedell of Romulus and Supt. Gary Jackson of Huron have already made up their minds that another method of financing must be drawn up to insure that our schools are run properly.

This option has been much talked about in the past, usually in the form of fantasy, by school officials.

The time of fantasy is over. It is a time of reality. The smoke is cleared from the field.

We recommend that Dr. Bedell and Dr. Jackson get on the telephone and begin discussion of a real movement to come up with a new method of financing Michigan schools.

It is generally agreed that the millage method of financing is a thing of the past. It is not responsive to the needs of the community.

To go to the hard-ped, overburdened taxpayer and ask for money, willingly, is like holding up a bank. Your chances of success are slim, and there is a good chance of being put, if not under arrest, than contempt.

Why put up with it?

Supt. Jackson summed up the Huron school election by simply noting that the number of voters without kids in school are greater than the number with kids in school.

We are all grown up enough to know that we cannot rely on people's charity to build a new school roof. People will buy a candy bar, but not a bus.

Both districts ran good campaigns, in Huron it was excellent. But nice try, no cigar.

Only when the superintendents of all the school districts make a SERIOUS concerted effort, and we don't mean passing resolutions, will there be the beginning of a turnaround in this very sorry state of affairs.

There is something very instructive in the recent state tax increase of 38.8 percent. It is high. It is necessary. And the state legislature voted for it.

It is now a fact of life. By simple fiat.

And when our school districts, rich and poor, are financed by state taxes in an equitable manner, then will our schools be financed in a same manner.

Out with millage. Up with state financing.

And Supts. Bedell and Jackson, start doing your homework.

Editorial feedback

Facts weren't presented by Consumers Power critic

After reading Aline Morin's recent letter to The Associated Newspapers, I thought it would be advantageous to respond to the allegations. It may be of interest to your readers that nearly eighty cents of every dollar you pay Consumers Power goes to pay for the natural gas you have consumed.

The eighty cents is exactly what we pay for the gas you use and we operate the company on the other twenty cents. It may be of interest to you that the federal government determines the cost of all natural gas found by producers; they determine what pipeline companies may charge for shipping the gas from the producing wells to the distributing utilities.

The distributing utilities, such as Consumers Power, are permitted to charge for shipping and delivering the natural gas to the retail customer. This charge is regulated by the Michigan Public Service Commission which oversees the twenty cents of every dollar you pay for natural gas.

In November 1978, the U.S. Congress passed the Natural Gas Policy Act which over a period of years is attempting to deregulate the price of natural gas by the federal government. The reason for this federal legislation was to encourage natural gas exploration since at the time, the US was facing natural gas shortages.

This federal legislation is allowing the price of natural gas to go up at the wellhead and it is impacting every state in the country...including Michigan. We recognize these price increases are creating a hardship on some customers and we are working in Washington, DC attempting to modify the rising cost of natural gas. But, we are proud as a Company to be able to factually state that we have the lowest gas rates in the State of Michigan.

In regard to the comments about our 21 percent increase which was implemented last April, perhaps you will recall the state legislature changed the method by which gas utilities may pass on their price increases from their gas suppliers. Presently, gas utilities must project their gas supplier costs for a 12-month period and then file this information with the MPSC for review and approval. If the MPSC does not rule upon the projections within 90 days, the utility may include these increased costs in their rates subject to refund when the MPSC does make a ruling.

On December 6, 1982, Consumers Power filed the projected cost information with the MPSC. After 90 days, the MPSC had not made a ruling and the company chose to wait an extra month for the MPSC approval. On April 7, 1983 we chose to include these projected cost increases into our rates subject to refund after the MPSC's review and approval.

The simple economic reality of business is that you cannot sell your product or service for less money than you pay for it and remain in business. This unfortunately is the situation the Company faced.

We are particularly proud of the PeopleCare Program which was recently completed. It may be of interest that $420,403 was collected to help needy people in this state. These funds were distributed by the Salvation Army to assist the needy with medical care, the purchase of food, rental assistance and transportation. The money contributed by residential customers was $211,521, by Company employees, $104,441. This employee contribution was matched by the Company from Corporate profits. In trying times such as these, the company is proud of organizing this successful program of helping people in need.

In regard to the comment on the $10 Home Energy Analysis, the Company does not make any money on this program which has been mandated by the State Legislature. For your information, each Home Energy Analysis costs $140-$150 of which the customer pays $10. For qualified low-income families the audit is free of charge.

After reading of your efforts to reduce your gas bill by burning wood, it should be pointed out that unless you have a proper wood stove installation, often the wood stove or fireplace flue sucks out the heat from your home at a rate faster than you can make up for it by burning wood. Perhaps you might want to consider taking advantage of a Home Energy Analysis which can help you take advantage of every dollar you spend for heating your home.

Mack and WCGH

Tom Mooradian
Managing Editor

Wayne County Commissioners Kay Beard and Milton Mack are sincere when they say that they want to keep Wayne County General Hospital open. The hospital is the last hope for medical aid and assistance for many in the area.

But, while Mrs. Beard sees the hospital as an organization of professionals operating outside of the charter and only within the outer reaches of the county executive, Mack views the hospital as the county executive's immediate responsibility and domain.

It also should be noted that the hospital is a thorn in the taxpayer's side. It has run a deficit for the many years, in the millions of dollars.

"The hospital issue should not be tied to the political struggle behind the forces of the old county government and the new charter," Mack declares. "The hospital should not be a political tool and I feel we all agree that the hospital should be continued to operate and maintained by the county."

Mack, elected to the county seat from the 11th district, served on the Wayne City Council before branching out into county politics. The hospital is a "hot potato" that could burn a lot of politicians because, on one hand it serves scores of economically depressed patients, but on the other it is racking those huge deficits.

Mack sees the battle and controversy from the debate of the hospital as one of "ego" and "turf".

"And the other issue here is an issue of turf," Mack continues. "The issue of ego between the commissioners and the executive can be decided in the political forum, but to tie the hospital's existence to that ordinance (Beard's ordinance) would translate into uncertainty for the hospital, the employees and the people of Wayne County."

"The debate emotionalizes the issues, it's unfair to make judgment on emotions. It's unfair to the employees and it's unfair to the patients."

To clear the air and define the line of responsibility, Mack offered a compromise ordinance for the commissioners to consider. Simply stated, Mack's ordinance says that the Wayne County shall continue to operate WCGH "and provide such services that the county commissioners seem appropriate in accordance with the charter."

"Once we settle the issue that the hospital will stay open, we then can move on to the other issues which should be separate," Mack says. "If we confuse the issues to the point where the courts would have to settle which body has jurisdiction here, it would polarize us for a year and the fate of the hospital would be left in limbo."

Mack offers some suggestions to streamline the hospital's operation. He said that some renovations could be made to make the hospital more attractive to third party payers, like issuance companies and private patient payers.

Also, more out-patient care could be assigned "off campus" thereby forcing the federal government to reimburse the hospital.

"But, there has to be accountability at the hospital. It has been defused because of years of apathy. People have been tripping over themselves at the hospital — the Board of Auditors, the Labor Relations Board, the Board of Institution, the Executive Director — let's streamline the administration and tighten up the policies and procedures, and let's try running the hospital as other hospitals are run."

"It's not going to be easy, but I believe it can be done."

Reader offers recall position

EDITOR — In response to Cliff Johnson's opinion, "Why Recall Blanchard?" June 1, 1983.

To be so naive Mr. Johnson, to believe the truly needy will go unheard, and believe in the continuing taxation of productivity to reward idleness, is a true sign of an alturist collectivist mentality.

The crisis we in Michigan face today is a moral crisis-and nothing less than a moral revolution can solve it; a moral revolution to sanction and complete the political achievement of the American Revolution. The disgraceful injustice which penalizes the productive worker in this state and rewards idleness through taxation, constitutes slavery.

The only moral purpose for government is to protect man's rights, which means, to protect him from physical violence-to protect his right to his own life, to his own liberty, to his own property, and to the pursuit of his own happiness.

Without property rights, no other rights are possible.

Every political system is based on and derived from a theory of ethics. This basic theory is being destroyed, precisely for the lack of a moral, philosophical defense and validation: The original American system, Capitalism. Capitalism is not the system of the past, despite what you may assume, it is the system of the future, if mankind is to have a future.

Only individual men have the right to decide when or whether they wish to help others; society, as an organized political system, has no rights, in the matter at all.

The altruist-collectivist premise is that men are "their brothers keepers" and that the misfortune of some is a mortgage on others.

What will happen to the poor in our society?

If you want to help them Mr. Johnson, you will not be stopped. As the number of beneficiaries increase, it merely increases the number of victims.

There can be no compromise between freedom and government controls; to accept "just a few controls", is to surrender the principle of unalienable individual rights, and to substitute for it the principle of government's unlimited, arbitrary power, thus delivering oneself into gradual enslavement. Observe the present domestic policy of the United States.

I must disagree with your philosophy totally, and thank Mr. Blanchard for awaking the people of Michigan.

Hopefully, the politicians of Michigan, will respond in a positive manner to their productive constituents under the cloak of RECALL.

Abortion is a human question

EDITOR — In response to a letter about a week ago from Morton Potter II of Westland. Mr. Potter had better check into his facts more thoroughly.

Abortion is not a religious question — it is a human question.

Do we have the right to take another human being's life, especially an innocent unborn human being?

I believe the answer is "no." An unborn child is not a part of a woman's body — that old argument for allowing abortion has been refuted years ago, even by pro-abortion persons. The unborn simple resides inside the woman's body until birth, it is a separate being.

Studies have shown that most abused children were not wanted children at the time of their mother's pregnancies. Since abortion was so-called legalized, child abuse has risen 400%. Violence in the womb being "legalized" tells people that violence to children after birth is permissible also.

Only recently are we learning from women themselves how traumatic abortion is, not only physically, but also emotionally and psychologically. This is borne out by such groups as Women Exploited By Abortion, which are forming all over the country.

No law will ever stop abortion, which was probably Mr. Potter's only true statement. But that doesn't mean we have to "legalize" it and allow the killing of innocent unborn children. We can solve women's problems in many more humane ways.

Birthright groups are proving that as they help women through difficult pregnancies toward more Christian, more humane, more compassionate solutions — solutions which allow the baby to live and the woman to live with herself afterward without guilt and shame.

More festival 'thank you's'

EDITOR — As president of the Romulus Central Business District Association, I would like to, on behalf of the members, express our gratitude and appreciation. Our Romulus Michigan Week Festival was a success because of so many people.

Many hours of planning and hard work certainly made this, the first festival, truly an exciting and learned event.

First, we wish to thank you, the Residents, friends and neighbors, you made it possible, by attending.

Dennis Davidson, Romulus Recreation Director and his staff and Festival Coordinator, with his efforts, this would not have become a reality.

We thank Mayor William Oakley for his support and constructive input. His attendance at our meetings proved to be very helpful and beneficial.

To our City Council, we appreciate your support by adopting a resolution and declaring that Romulus Michigan Week Festival be an "annual event". We specially commend Councilmen John Lewkowicz and Pete Bergeron for their assistance and being at our festival meetings.

Our Department of Public Works and Director Dave Paul did an outstanding job assisting and directing us. Our Fire Department was also very instrumental and a great help.

To the Chamber of Commerce, St. Aloysius Usher Club and South Little League, your sponsorship of the Refreshment, Casino and Bingo tent (inclusive) provided added attraction and fun for all.

To the following businesses, we thank you for your contributions. For those of you that donated prizes for the nightly drawings, the recipients were very pleased. The anticipation of the crowd was really exciting.

Republic Airlines, U.S. Air, Com Air, New York Air, Capac Kasama, MacDonalds, Mack Florist, Stears Hardware, Ramada Inn, Hilton Airport Inn, Holiday Inn, Host International (innkeeper), Holiday Inn Bridgetts, Ramada Inn Summerfields, Satellite Airport Parking, Romulus Hardware, Joanne Prosser, Super Z Market, Family Pharmacy, Romulus Auto Supply, Metro Carburator, Springer Archery, Darnell Small Engine Repair, Detroit Diesel Allison, Environ, Export-Import Brewery Company, National Car Rental, Central Distributors of Beer, Pepsi Cola Company, Marvin Roth; (Moslem Shrine Clowns) Coca Cola Company, Dannon Zogurt, Delta Air lines, Johnston Litho-Smith, P.D. Q. Printing, Hilton Inn Shanty Creek.

We applaud Jim and Judy Dennett and the Emergency Network for their many hours of dedication, providing the public with a professional and personalized service.

The grounds, equipment, etc. were very well taken care of, for we had a fine group of people that spent their evenings and overnight making sure nothing went wrong. We commend Jim Shelton, president of the Kwik Helpers and members.

Mr. Gil White Sr. not only provided us with lights for the tents but also spent many nights as bookkeeper along with Marcia Krey & Mary Ann Wasilewski from Manufacturers Bank as Jerry Nault. Mr. White was always there to lend a helping hand.

Thanks to Marilyn Masters and all those persons that helped with ticket sales, all of you deserve a big hand.

to the concessionaires & Jaycees, we thank you for your participation, we hope to see you at our next festival.

The W. G. Wade Carnival was a great attraction for it provided fun for the children. We have received praise from many. You put on a good show.

To Bill Smith, Adult Education Director, words cannot express how we feel about his performance and expertise with our first Community Pride 10K Road Run. We are very proud and pleased with the total results.

All of the volunteers, so many gave their time, that to list everyone, would be endless. Our hats go off to you.

We thank Dr. William Bedell and the Romulus Community Schools for all their support and also allowing the use of the grounds.

Romulus High School Band under the direction of Harry James, your performance and participation ranks Number One with us.

To Police Chief Donald Flood and the Romulus Police Department, a job well done.

If we have missed anyone, we certainly did not mean to.

To All of You, the Romulus Michigan Week Festival was a memorable occasion and we could not have done it without you.

We are looking forward to next year. See you then.

BILL SIMONDS,
President
Romulus Central Business
District Association.

A story about a lost purse

EDITOR — On Sunday, June 5, we had completed shopping at a local store near the 6 p.m. closing time. We decided to stop at a local restaurant when, to our utter dismay, my wife discovered that her wallet was missing from her purse.

In sheer panic, we searched our vehicle and the area. Because the purse not only contained over fifty dollars in cash, but our check book and credit cards, as well as irreplaceable items.

Needless to say, in these particularly trying times, we were not too optimistic as we returned to search the Kroger parking lot.

At that time, we noticed someone in the closed store and knocked on the door. A young male employee opened the door, and while my wife frantically related our plight to the young man, I continued searching the outside path to our original parking area.

Soon, my wife was running toward me, in tears, holding the purse in her hand, completely intact, including cash, credit cards, etc. I shouted to the unnamed young man to wait as we wanted to give him a reward.

As the doors of Krogers locked behind him, he only said, "You owe me no reward, sir. I don't know who found it, I'm just glad she got it back."

In conclusion, this letter is not only our expression of sincere appreciation to the people responsible for the return of the purse, but to all those whose quiet honesty has gone unacknowledged through the years. Many, many thanks!

Van Buren and Canton library

EDITOR — I don't know how many people are aware that Van Buren Township residents are no longer allowed to take out books from the Canton Library.

Canton won't let us take out books because Van Buren won't pay their share of the fees.

It seems to me that libraries are an important part of growing up. Why can't the township pay the fees?

The Canton Library is one of the best ones in our area. Isn't it enough that our schools are in trouble? I'm not sure if anything can be done about this but I feel that the residents of Van Buren Township should be aware and fight back.

Oh those flea markets

It is that time of the year again! The time of the flea market on our street. And I'm going somewhere far, far away.

It all began many years ago when a few antique buffs, who were my neighbors, thought it would be fun to put out their tables on their front lawns, and pile them high with antiques they had gleaned from their travels.

It wasn't long before everyone got in the act, and all the neighbors brought out their tables, and some sat around and knitted things, and others dug down in their cupboards for whatever they had stored there that hadn't been used since their wedding day, and others cleaned their basement and their garages.

Optimistic mothers brought out all the baby clothes, and the high chairs, and the walkers, and whatever else goes along with babies, and thought they would make a buck on a gamble.

I'm not sure why I didn't want to participate. It certainly isn't because there are no antiques in our house, and it certainly isn't because there isn't a lot of junk. It is probably because I can't knit.

Maybe it is because it would embarrass me to have perfect strangers look over the stuff I've accumulated through the years, and hear them ask each other why on earth anyone would ever have bought the stuff in the first place. I don't need perfect strangers asking those questions...my husband has been doing it for years.

That explains why I don't participate, I think. Why I am going to run away needs more explanation.

Have you ever seen a street full of strangers following their noses towards acquisition? It's frightening.

Take last year.

I wakened early one Saturday morning, waiting to hear the birds singing which I couldn't hear above the noise of neighbor's dragging out their tables, shouting across the lawns at one another, and having fun. I thought about dragging out a table then, but since I am naturally a bit inclined towards inertia, I just laid there and envied the fun sounds.

Just as the coffee was perking the invasion began. Hordes of people huffing and puffing down the sidewalks, over the lawns, up on porches, digging into the tables, sniffing at the knitted things, flouncing out bedspreads and tablecloths, riffling through old silverware, all the time talking, talking and shrieking when they found something.

The worst time came when I ventured from the house to take the trash out.

"You'd better not go out now," my husband said from behind his newspaper, but I said I was going out the side door and I would be safe. I had no more set my foot out then I began eating those words!

"What do you have there?" one woman shrieked, tearing across the lawn and grabbing at the bag in my hand.

"It's only..." I began, but before I could get the word out, another woman came shrilling across the lawn and slid to a stop. "Here, let me see," she yelled, but the first woman was trying to untie the knot around the bag, and gave her a shove.

"I'll open it," a huge woman with a silly little hat set on her head, shouted as she caught sight of the skirmish.

"Oooh look," one of them shouted as she momentarily looked up from the struggle and saw the slippers I had on my feet. "How much?"

"But they aren't..." I began. "Fine, I'll take them," she yelled and pulled them right off my feet. Then she went back to the fray.

"Whatever it is, it's mine," the first woman shouted angrily.

Not if I get the bag opened first..." panted another.

The bag gave. Out dumped the stuff which had been jammed in there from spouse, kids and uncles who live in my house. Some of the stuff was from people who don't live there.

The women fell back and then as though they were one, made a mighty dive towards the rolling stuff.

"Oh no," one of them cried as she got her hands onto the mess. "It's just a bunch of trash."

"I'll take it," shouted a woman from the street, as she came sliding and skidding across the grass.

And she didn't even quibble when I said twenty bucks. She had to ask for a bag to put it in, though, and all she did was thank me when I charged her five bucks for that!

On second thought, maybe I won't run away this year.

in sickening detail, as we have had to in the last several months, about helpless children being horribly, methodically and sadistically abused — Children, if they were alive at all, left with scars both inside and out too terrible to even think about without wincing. What manner of people are we that, with the turn of a page, we can so easily forget what we've just read?

Can we ever call ourselves civilized if we let even one child suffer at the hands of someone older and more brutal than they?

And how can we, in one sanctimonious breath, say our children should never have to suffer, and then in another parsimonious breath, say that aid to Social Services — the one agency set up to ensure the care and safety of those children — should be cut.

You see? I just don't understand. But when I do, you can be sure I'll write a column about it.

mona grigg

Suffer the little children

Somebody asked me a while back why I haven't written anything yet about child abuse. I said, "Oh, I'm going to. One of these days."

What I didn't say was that I've tried, many times, to write about child abuse — but it is a subject so painful, so abhorrent, and, at the same time, so alien to me, that I have a hard time even comprehending it.

As a child, I was never spanked. No, never. My parents were huggers, not hitters. I grew up in such an insulated, pleasant little world that I was well into my teens before I actually saw someone being struck by, of all things, a parent.

It was a cousin — a cousin I dearly loved — and I came into the room as his father was whipping him with his belt. I screamed and lunged at my uncle, trying to get the belt away from him, and my mother grabbed me and pulled me out of the room. With tears in her eyes, she told me I couldn't interfere.

Not interfere? A person I loved was in there being beaten and I shouldn't do anything? And here was my mother, who wouldn't hurt a fly, who always took care of things, not doing anything, either?

I can remember every little detail about that afternoon. The belt being raised into the air and coming down hard onto my cousin. The look on his face as the belt struck. My aunt, crying into a towel, trying not to hear...

And my cousin, hours later, eyes puffy and faced streaked with dirty tears, coming out of his room alive and whole — and grinning.

I felt betrayed that afternoon — by everybody. By my uncle and my aunt and my mother, for not being the people I thought they were — and even by my cousin, for not seeming to suffer over the beating as much as I had.

And I felt vulnerable. I had witnessed, for the first time in my life, an actual act of violence. Before that afternoon I thought that sort of thing only happened in the movies. Make believe. Nobody really got hurt. Now I knew what violence looked like — and I knew that it could happen to anybody — even as people who cared for them stood by.

I am much older now — and supposedly wiser. I wish I could say I understand any of it better now. I don't. I don't understand how a seemingly normal, rational person could go on living life as usual after he, in a fit of anger, had raised ugly, brutal welts on a younger, smaller person with his own belt.

I don't understand how a mother could stand by and do nothing more than cry into a towel and pretend not to hear when someone small and wonderful — someone she loves — is being deliberately injured.

I don't understand how three people standing by could so easily have been conditioned into thinking they were not able to overpower the belt-wielder and take his weapon away from him.

And I don't understand how the victim of the beating could come out of his room a few hours later, grinning — as though the incident had not hurt him, changed him, made him tougher and more wary — when it had.

And if I don't understand those things about that one long-ago incident, I surely don't understand what happens to us when we read

Armed Forces

Pfc. Vanessa Smith, daughter of Joseph L. Smith of 3620 Isabelle Ave., Inkster, has completed basic training at Fort McClellan, Ala.

During the training, students received instruction in drill and ceremonies, weapons, map reading, tactics, military courtesy, military justice, first aid, and Army history and traditions.

Herrington will now serve at Fort Sam Houston, Texas.

He is a 1979 graduate of Romulus Senior High School.

Pvt. Harold H. McArthur, son of Harold C. and Lois A. McArthur of 45109 Harris Road, Belleville, has completed a motor transport operator course at the U.S. Army Training Center, Fort Leonard Wood, Mo.

During the course, students received training in the operation and maintenance of light military vehicles. Instruction is also given in the transportation of personnel, equipment and supplies.

Navy Seaman Robert C. Ducey, son of Sharon Ducey of 33710 Clinton St., Wayne, recently returned from a six-month deployment to the Mediterranean.

He is a crewmember aboard the combat store ship USS San Diego, homeported in Norfolk, Va.

During the deployment, the ship steamed about 35,000 miles to replenish 142 U.S. Navy Seventh Fleet ships. The ship also provided supplies to U.S. embassies in Egypt, Greece and Israel.

The San Diego helped support the U.S. Amphibious Task Force, part of the Multi-National Peacekeeping Force in Beirut, Lebanon and participated in exercise "National Week."

National week was an eight-day U.S. Sixth Fleet exercise involving approximately 20 ships and more than 200 carrier and land-based U.S. Navy aircraft.

The exercise tested naval warfare responses to a multi-threat air, surface ship and submarine environment.

The deployment also provided crewmembers the opportunity to visit Paris, Rome, Pompeii, Athens, Jerusalem, Bethlehem and Cairo.

Airman Scott A. Barbour, son of Roscoe S. and Sandy L. Barbour of 36504 Huron River Drive, New Boston, has completed Air Force basic training at Lackland Air Force Base, Texas.

The airman, who is remaining at Lackland for specialized training in the security police field, studied the

SCOTT A. BARBOUR
Air Force mission, organization and customs and received special instruction in human relations.

Completion of this training earned the individual credits toward an associate degree in applied science through the Community College of the Air Force.

He is a 1982 graduate of Huron High School, New Boston.

Fitch awarded scholarship

Cynthia Fitch, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Fitch of Belleville, was awarded a Principal's Scholarship to Lake Erie College, an independent, liberal arts, women's college in northeastern Ohio.

Cynthia will receive $1,500 per year, renewable each year, if she maintains a 3.25 grade point average. The Principal's Scholarship is given to a student recommended by her high school principal.

Ms. Fitch is a 1983 graduate of Belleville High School.

Our very special fathers...

And here they are . . .
This wasn't easy. More than 400 of our readers submitted names of fathers they thought ought to be featured in our second Devoted to Dad section, and paring those entries down to our six winners was a difficult task indeed.

We laughed, sighed and admittedly shed a few tears over many of the entries, and eventually, after hours of deliberation, chose the following men on the basis of the letters submitted.

We learned a great deal . . . for one thing Dad is not the forgotten man many would have us think. He is still the epitome of love, security and discipline in many homes, and the gratitude and affection families have for him are really unequalled.

Dads are quite a special breed — and stepfathers and adopted fathers are no exception. The heartwarming stories that were revealed to us about several men who have taken over established families also caused us a few tears.

At any rate, on the next few pages we present our winners, just in time for the one day each year devoted to dad . . . he certainly deserves it.

My name is Jennifer Higgins, and I am 11 years old. My father, Terry Higgins, is a very special dad. Although he was only nineteen years old when he was born, he has always been my idea of a perfect father.

Recently, when I got a new bike, he put it together almost immediately working all night to do it. And he enjoys helping me with my homework, making it seem more fun. One time, I brought a map of the world home and I had to find places on it. I hated maps, and I couldn't do it. But my dad offered to help, and now I love doing maps. I think the most important thing about my dad is that he loves me so much. He is very proud of me, and shows me his love every day. I thank you very much,

Jennifer Higgins

P.S. He kisses me every day before he goes to work.

MR. AND MRS. GARY R. VAN BUHLER

Lissa Potter featured speaker at BPW meet

Three scholarships were awarded at the June meeting of the Belleville Business and Professional Women's Club (BPW) which took place at Faith United Methodist Church in Denton.

Following a ham dinner served by the UMW, the Club's annual $500 scholarship for a Belleville High School senior girl was presented to Kathleen Lynn Zager, the daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Lawrence Zager.

In addition, a $125 gift was given to a Van Buren Township Headstart mother who is pursuing a degree as a medical assistant. Her tuition is paid through a Federal grant but there was a need for assistance in purchasing textbooks and uniforms.

The Club also voted to contribute $75 toward the expenses of Corlette Brown, a vocational education student, who is competing on a national level at a seminar in Texas. She has been taking classes in health occupation and won, at State competition, a chance to move onto National. Many local service clubs in Belleville and Romulus are contributing to her involvement with this program.

The outstanding young speaker of the evening was Lissa Potter, a niece of BPW member Aldine Potter, who won the Rotary Club's scholarship which entitled her to residence in Ealguan, India for a year. She had completed her junior year in Plymouth schools prior to the journey East.

Lissa, who donned the native dress of India which students wear to school, told about the bland diet of rice which is eaten at every meal, that very little meat is consumed and few vegetables are available. However, fruit is quite abundant, she added.

Family life there is comprised of many (sometimes 14 people) residing in the same house. This includes parents, grandparents and even great-grandparents at times. This type of home life, she said, lends a great deal of security to school-age children.

The school routine includes a tremendous amount of memory work in all subjects. Students are not encouraged to merely think but rather to retain all contents of textbooks by memory.

In conclusion, Lissa displayed a number of gifts from her surrogate Indian parents — brass vases, silk fabric for dresses and miscellaneous items native to India.

Lissa will enter Mt. Holyoke College in Massachusetts as a freshman this fall.

During the business session three new members were installed; July 11 was announced as the date for the club luau for members and guests and a tentative Detroit Race Track outing with dinner and horse viewing was discussed.

Arrangements for the June meeting were made by the Scholarship Committee: Georgia Badgett, chairman; Mabel Hall, Esther Smith, Ethel McDonald, Connie Testorelli and Mildred Baker.

Guests are always welcome at BPW meetings. However, reservations are necessary and may be made by calling 697-5761.

Newlyweds spend 10-day honeymoon in Hawaii

St. Theodore Catholic Church in Westland was the setting May 14 for the afternoon ceremony which joined Bernice H. Dorfstatter and Gary R. Van Buhler in holy matrimony.

The Rev. John Lacasse presided at the double ring rite before some 150 assembled guests including an aunt of the bride from Vienna, Austria.

Music for the one thirty o'clock wedding was played by organist Mike Opper and sung by the bridegroom's sister, Joan Van Buhler, who accompanied herself on the guitar.

The bride, who was escorted to the altar by her parents, Alfred and Helene Dorfstatter of 6109 Kinloch, Dearborn Heights, met her waiting bridegroom who was also given in marriage by his parents, Ray and Leona Van Buhler of 45201 Venetian, Belleville.

Carrying a presentation bouquet of pink roses, baby's breath, stephanotis and asparagus fern, the bride was gownned in a Chantilly lace creation designed with a scalloped neckline, long, tapered sleeves on the little fitted bodice and an A-line skirt which drifted into a chapel sweep.

Completing her ensemble was a two-tier silk illusion veil which fell to three-quarter length from a crescent headdress of white silk flowers.

Diane Stanley of Ypsilanti served as honor attendant with Julie Jenks of Northville; Tina Blakian of Dearborn and Terri O'Tremba of Dearborn Heights completing the bridal coterie.

Identically dressed, the quartet appeared in short-sleeved taffeta frocks of soft raspberry styled with calf-length skirts sashed with self cummerbunds. Their arm bouquets were comprised of pink roses, baby's breath and fern.

The bridegroom asked his close friend, Tom Vacek of Ypsilanti, to serve as best man. Groomsmen were Keith Carnahan of Belleville; Joel Samborn of Ann Arbor and Walter Dorfstatter of Dearborn Heights, the bride's brother.

At the dinner-dance reception, which followed at the Holiday Inn West of Livonia, some 185 relatives and friends were greeted by the bride's mother who was formally gownned in mauve qiana for the occasion and the bridegroom's mother who selected a toe-touching rose-colored chiffon jacket-dress for her son's wedding.

Friends and relatives traveled from Wakefield, R.I.; Randolph, N.J.; Texas and nearby cities for the festivities.

Since returning from their 10-day honeymoon in Hawaii, the newlyweds have taken up residence at 7507 Culpepper Ct., Westland.

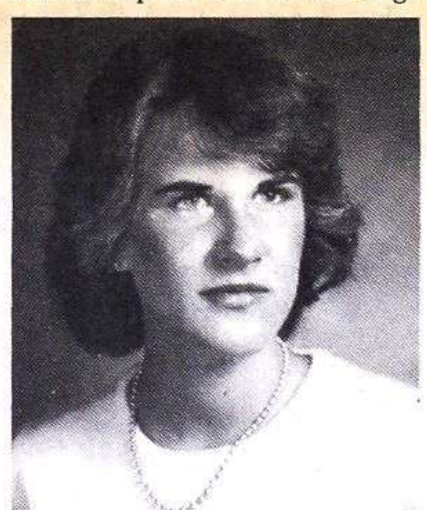

Currently working for Lincoln-Mercury of Wixom, the new Mrs. Van Buhler is a graduate of Eastern Michigan University where she earned a Bachelor of Science degree in merchandising and marketing.

Her bridegroom, who holds a Bachelor of Science degree in construction technology and computer-aided design from EMU, is currently employed by Com-Code Associates of Ann Arbor.

The wedding rehearsal dinner, hosted by the bridegroom's parents, was held at the Jolly Miller at the Plymouth Hilton.

KATHLEEN ZAGER

School senior girl went this year to Kathleen Lynn Zager, the daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Lawrence Zager of 42877 E. Huron River Dr., Belleville.

Kathleen was selected from a group of five for her academic excellence and sense of purpose for her future education. She attended Belleville schools since the second grade, having moved from Dearborn Heights to this area.

Athletically, as well as scholastically adept, she was a member of the BHS track team for three years and was a cross country runner for two. At the annual BHS Awards Banquet she received a trophy for the most valuable player in track and cross country as well as the Captain's Award.

An outstanding student academically, Kathy achieved a 11.370 grade point average during her high school years, the third highest in a class of 413 students. During her junior and senior years, she was a member of the National Honor Society and graduated with highest honors, on June 9.

Also having an interest in music, she was a member of the BHS Concert Choir for two years and the Ambassadors Chorale for one.

Kathy has been accepted by the University of Michigan where she plans to major in either education or physical therapy.

When time permits, the recent graduate enjoys swimming, camping and sewing. She is a member of St. Anthony's Catholic Church and last summer was employed by Capt. Nemo's of Belleville.

One of four daughters, her sisters are Leslie, Susan and Julie.

David Anthony Henderson

"It's a boy!" was the news that went out to friends and relatives on May 6 when Roger and Tonya Henderson of Maple Street, Belleville, welcomed their first child, making them an instant family.

Titled "David Anthony", the new heir bowed in at 11:42 a.m. at Wayne County General Hospital, his weight being recorded at 7 lbs. - 1 oz. and his length at 19 3/4 inches.

The infant is the new grandson of Henry and Yvonne Johnson and Alvin and Betty Henderson, all of Westland. His proud great-grandparents are the Roy Krugers of Westland; Dorothy Vanmeter of Wayne and Anthony Evola of Altamonte Springs, Fla.

Crystal Marie Schell

The birth of their first child, a daughter, is announced by Charles and Laurie Schell of 47001 Waters Edge, A-109, Belleville. Making her debut at 4:09 p.m. May 28, Crystal Marie weighed 6 lbs.-3 ozs. and measured 18 inches.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Drobot and Mrs. Jean Schell, all of Belleville, are the infant's grandparents. Her proud great-grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Al Wierzebecki of Belleville and Mrs. Florence Burgess of Ripley, N.Y.

The new mother, who welcomed her daughter at St. Joseph Mercy Hospital in Ann Arbor, is the former Laurie Armstrong.

New on the scene

Early deadline

Due to vacation scheduling, an early deadline will be in effect next week for the Suburban Living section. All items must be submitted no later than 2 p.m. Wednesday, June 22, rather than at the usual time on Thursday. Your cooperation in meeting this one-week-only schedule will result in seeing your news in the June 29 issue.

potpourri

By Lee Smith
Suburban Living Editor

Along with their traditional vegetable gardens this year, several of my friends have put in separate little patches especially for herbs. That way they'll merely have to step out their doors and pinch off a snip of basil, tarragon, thyme, or whatever else the evening's recipe might call for.

I'm still considering the idea but thus far have only my usual clump of parsley to fall back on. Procrastinator that I am — "we'll see." Unlike the reason in those cliché-ridden "days-of-yore," however, a family (let's be honest — the woman) HAD to have an herb garden, not to spice up the pot of victuals on the hearth but as a means of warding off illness.

Since there were no corner drugstores in medieval times, home-grown herb gardens provided the wonder drugs of the day. And since physicians were few and far between, it was, of necessity, an era of do-it-yourself.

The medieval housewife planted that special garden which hopefully would help her cope with anything from snakebite to influenza. Many of the plants are familiar to us since we use them in cooking today: caraway, bay leaves, sage, marjoram, fennel, rosemary.

Ingeniously, housewives in those ancient days found many other uses for herbs besides healing. For instance, sweet woodruff when dried has the scent of new-mown hay. Therefore, it was used for strewing on floors, perfuming linen chests and making garlands for church on feast days.

Marjoram was a must in those ancient gardens since it was used to flavor soups and meat dishes (did they have such a concoction as salads in those times?) This same herb "bound on the head would cure a cold; drunk with wine, it warmed the stomach, comforting digestion."

Camomile or rosemary was used to make a "sweet washing water." And mint "rubbed on the teeth will give a sweet smelling mouth."

Like her earlier counterparts, my mother was big on camomile but not as a mouth freshener. In our family, it was brewed as a tea and was "the" remedy for colds. Laced with a shot of Old Granddaddy and some honey, the steaming cups had to be sipped carefully ("don't let it cool off") while the perspiration formed on your forehead and you just plain "sweated out that cold."

When a member of her family had a cold, the lady of the ancient house boiled up a potent brew of leaves and flowers of fresh borage. For a nervous headache, she made an infusion of primrose root. And for a sedative, there was always a crock of cowslip wine handy.

Distilled water from the leaves and flowers of cowslip were also "good against the pain in the head that comes of a cold" — a cureall we would today assign to aspirin.

Caraway ; was not only for coughs, it was also "good for the frenzy and for the biting of venomous beasts; also it restoreth hair which hath fallen away." (What are all those fellas doing in the spice aisles at the super market?)

The time has long vanished when a homemaker finds it necessary to grow an herb garden purely for medicinal purposes. Today, it is more likely to be gourmet cooks or enthusiastic gardeners who find it an esoteric and rewarding hobby.

But then — how many people today suffer from the "frenzy" or the "biting of venomous beasts?"

FOOD FACTS

- Steak is 74 percent water by weight.
- A pound of tea makes about 125 cups.
- The cream of tartar you use when beating egg whites comes from grapes. It is deposited on the sides of wine casks during the fermentation of grapes into wine.
- Celery was known in many ancient civilizations. The early Chinese brewed a medicinal tea from it which was supposed to cure stomach troubles. So long, Maalox!

THE BOTTOM LINE: The modern wife is one who knows what her husband's favorite dishes are — and the restaurants that serve them.

MATTHEWS-KOTLARCZYK

July date set

Calvary Baptist Church in Canton is being reserved for the July 16 altar date set by Ruth Ellen Matthews of Howell and Michael Allen Kotlarczyk of Belleville. The young couple's engagement and wedding plans are announced by The Rev. and Mrs. George E. Matthews of 122 Almon, Howell, parents of the bride-elect. A 1979 graduate of John Glenn High School, Miss Matthews holds an Associate Arts Degree from Schoolcraft College and is currently attending Eastern Michigan University while employed at J.C. Penney at 12 Oaks, Novi. Her fiancé, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Steve Kotlarczyk of 46093 Bémis Rd., Belleville, graduated in 1979 from Belleville High School. He later earned his Bachelor of Science degree in electrical engineering at Lawrence Institute of Technology where he was affiliated with the Electrical Engineers Honor Society, the IEEE Computer Society and Eta Kappa Nu. He is now working for Mc Donnell-Douglas in St. Louis, MO.

Past Matrons hold luncheon

The June meeting and luncheon of the Past Matrons' Association of Belleville Chapter No. 73, OES, was held at Bonanza in the Lakewood Shopping Center on June 2. The hostess, Past Matron, Joyce Maki, was unable to be present so Frances Cothern acted as hostess pro tem. Handmade favors of small teapots and cups and saucers were presented to the 15 members present. The newly installed president, Florence

McKelvey, conducted a short business meeting with Eva Lupher having devotions. Cards were signed to be sent to ill members, Emma Moore and Lenore Gaddy. The tentative date of August 4 was set for the annual picnic, the place to be announced later. Effie Kerbyson and Frances Cothern drew the lucky numbers for the door prizes. The remainder of the afternoon was spent visiting.

Stapleton, Scherbarth are engaged

The engagement and summer wedding plans of their daughter, Terri Lynn Stapleton, and Larry William Scherbarth are announced by James and Mary Stapleton of 82796 Missaukee, Westland.

A graduate of Wayne Memorial High School, the bride-elect attended Wayne County Community College and is now employed as assistant manager at Pic-way Shoe Mart in Dearborn Heights.

Her fiancé, the son of Ralph and Pat Scherbarth of 36035 Rolf, Westland, is a John Glenn High School alumnus currently working for Reliance Motors in Detroit.

An August 6 altar date has been set.

Aids to pain

Oh, your aching head. If you've had too much to drink, eat a pickled herring (yes, a pickled herring) and drink a couple of glasses of water before going to bed. This hangover prevention remedy from a noted gastroenterologist isn't as far-fetched as it might sound. Alcohol dehydrates you, robbing water from cells. The salt content of the pickled herring prods the water you drink back into the cells.

Short subjects

This year, make Father's Day a real family affair. In addition to honoring dad, pay tribute, too, to grandfathers, uncles, cousins and brothers. All are special and will enjoy being a part of the festivities.

An ideal menu choice for entertaining a crowd is an impressive beef roast cooked to perfection on the rotisserie. When choosing a roast, look for one that's boneless, naturally tender, compact and fairly uniform in shape. Beef rib eye, tip, rump and top round roasts are all popular rotisserie choices.

DIET TIP: Think of how you'll look in summertime dresses, revealing the pounds which winter clothing hides so well. Then reach for the yogurt instead of the double chocolate cake.

One-time Bedell Street residents, Mr. and Mrs. David Falconer, of Mesa, Ariz., arrived recently to spend some time visiting relatives and friends in the community.

Former West Columbia Avenue residents, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Brown of Horseshoe Bend, Ark., are spending the month of June with relatives and friends in this area.

A long-time friend, Mrs. Gladys Allison of Ypsilanti, spent Tuesday with Mrs. Max Richards of Belleville Road.

Mrs. Rosemary Knapp of Marshall was an overnight guest last week of her friend, Elda Bohl.

Members of the Senior Citizens swimming group enjoyed a cookout at the Bedell Street home of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Clayton last Thursday.

Mr. and Mrs. Richard Early of Milan were recent guests of their aunt and uncle, Mr. and Mrs. Russell Wilson.

Mrs. Max Richards and son, Albert Day, were recent callers on Mrs. William Amrhein and other relatives in Brighton.

Mr. and Mrs. Albert Dolph were recent dinner guests of the latter's brother and wife, Mr. and Mrs. Don Waters of Huntington Woods.

Mrs. Stella Neely of Westland was a Sunday dinner guest of her son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Welt and family.

DAWN FINLEY

BHS junior set for EISP

Dawn Finley, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Finley of 11655 Hoyt Dr., Belleville, has been accepted in the Engineering Industrial Support Program's summer academic curriculum at the University of Michigan in Ann Arbor.

The EISP will provide an extensive academic enrichment experience to assist Dawn in preparing for entrance into a college of engineering.

Dawn, a junior at Belleville High School, was a recent inductee into the National Honor Society. She has been a cheerleader for the past two years and is a member of the track team.

Mrs. Jesse Collins of Vian, Okla. arrived last Saturday and will be spending a few weeks with her sons, Robert and Rodney Collins and their families of Borgman Street.

A surprise birthday celebration for Mary L. Buchau Brown at Trinity Episcopal Church on Sunday, June 5, was hosted by her children, Joan E. Luick of Chelsea and Richard A. Buchau and his wife, Claudette, from Townsend, Mass. Friends and relatives gathered for the festivities from the surrounding areas as well as from California, Illinois, New York and Massachusetts.

A highlight of the day was a memory book composed of letters relating memories shared with Mary, who was a resident of Belleville for many years.

Mr. and Mrs. George C. Wilson returned last week from Rockport, Ill. where they had spent a few days with their son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Gary Peterson and their eight-months-old daughter, Jennifer.

Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Palmer received word on Tuesday, May 31, of the death of the former's sister, Mrs. George (Patricia) Vogt of Marshall. Funeral services were held Saturday, June 4.

Mrs. Vogt passed away after a lengthy illness at 58 years of age.

Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Mericle had dinner Tuesday evening at Dearborn Inn and later enjoyed the stage show of super star performer, Wayne Newton, at the Premier Center in Sterling Heights. Making it a foursome were Maxine Leonard of Denton Road and Thomas Glover of Taylor.

Mrs. June Hawkins recently returned from Cincinnati, O. where she attended the 40th reunion of the class of 1943 of Mt. Healthy High School at Schuller's Wig Wam.

Regents-Alumni Scholars named

The University of Michigan has selected 392 top high school seniors from 316 schools throughout the state to receive Regents-Alumni Scholar Merit Awards for "outstanding academic achievement, scholarly promise and potential contribution to the University community."

A total of 980 students were nominated for the merit award (financial need is not a consideration), based on their grades, class ranking and test scores. Nominees were interviewed by U-M alumni representatives in their hometown area and final decisions were made by the University Regents-Alumni Award Committee.

Students selected as Regents-Alumni Scholars will receive a $750 (non-renewable) scholarship when they enroll in the U-M at Ann Arbor in the fall of 1983. In addition, recognition certificates have been provided to the recipients' high schools for presentation at spring awards convocations.

Regents-Alumni Scholars from this area include two Belleville High School graduates: Kenneth Wesley Eccles of 9445 Van Buren and Tami L. Harkai of 45131 Venetian; and one from Lincoln High School, Randall William Zywicki of 50303 Willow Rd., Belleville.

Belleville co-eds inducted into frat

Sue Meyer and Lynnette Bailey, Central Michigan University sophomores from Belleville, were inducted into Phi Chi Theta, the women's professional business fraternity.

The 100-member group works to promote business education and to encourage preparation for business careers for women.

Sue is the daughter of Don and Jean Meyer of Madelon Street, Belleville. She is an interpersonal and public communication major.

Lynnette, a hospitality services administration major, is the daughter of Ray and Dorothy Bailey of Belleville.

Couple earn college degrees

Anita Bargardi graduated April 30 from the University of Michigan School of Nursing where she earned her Bachelor of Science degree in nursing. The daughter of Norman and Beverly Kent of Romulus, she attended Romulus Schools through the 10th grade, graduating in 1979 from Aquinas High School in Southgate. She is currently employed in the Surgical Intensive Care Unit at University Hospital in Ann Arbor where she and her husband, Michael, reside.

Michael, a 1978 alumnus of Melvindale-Northern Allen Park High School, received his Bachelor of Business Education degree from Eastern Michigan University recently. He is the son of Carl and Frances Bargardi of Allen Park.

PUBLIC NOTICE

The U.S. Environmental Protection Agency has received a partial closure plan from Chem-Met Services, Inc., a hazardous waste processing facility, located at 18550 Allen Road, Wyandotte, Michigan. The plan submitted on April 8, 1983, proposes the removal of 200,000 gallons of liquids, 60,000 gallons of sludges, and 200 cubic yards of solids from a storage surface impoundment area. This waste will be treated on site and removed to an authorized facility for disposal. All equipment used will be decontaminated by steam cleaning or waterblasting. This facility will continue to remain a processor of hazardous waste.

The Chem-Met Services, Inc., plans were submitted to satisfy regulations promulgated under the Resource Conservation and Recovery Act, codified at 40 CFR 265 Subpart G. The plans will be evaluated by U.S. EPA according to the criteria of the regulations.

The plans and related background materials are available to the public at U.S. EPA Waste Management Branch, 230 S. Dearborn, 13th Floor, Chicago, Illinois, (312) 886-6940, from 8:30 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. Monday through Friday. These materials also may be seen at the Bacon Public Library, 45 Vinewood Street, Wyandotte, Michigan, Wyandotte through Friday, during working business hours.

Public comments concerning this application are requested by U.S. EPA and will be accepted through July 18, 1983. Please send comments to:

32. Help Wanted

Our nurses come from all over the country. They chose a career with the University of Michigan Hospitals for a variety of reasons. Some heard about the excellent climate for career growth from friends. Some chose us because of our national reputation for excellence in research, teaching and patient care. Others decided on U of M because of the variety, the fast pace or the learning opportunities. Our nurses choose to stay because in addition to meeting their career expectations, U of M meets their personal expectations. We may be a large organization but we value individual differences and individual needs.

An Inside View of Nursing

At U of M, there is always room for you as a person. Find out more about the personally and professionally enriching practice you can enjoy with us. Please call collect at (313) 763-4600, or write to: Nurse Employment Office, University of Michigan Hospitals, 300 N. Ingalls, Box 50, Ann Arbor, MI 48109.

Romulus High students wind down busy school year

Conservation...

By TOM BALDWIN

With the school year winding down, we would like to reflect on our activities this past year. The club formed early in the school year with the following major goals:

- 1) To eliminate pollution of the environment through education and action.
- 2) To work for intelligent land use.
- 3) To promote enjoyment of outdoor activities.
- 4) To provide high school youth with skills and attitudes about conservation that will carry over into adult life.

Meetings were held on a monthly basis and were presided over by club President Kevin Collins. Other officers included Vice President Mike Mason, secretary Janis Haapapuro, and treasurer Shannon Kushner.

Special events this year included an archery shoot, ice fishing, a carp shoot, tree sales, and participation in the V.I.C.A. softball tournament.

The club is applying for affiliation with Michigan United Conservation Clubs and expects confirmation of that application this summer.

Building trades

By TERREL BIRD

The Vocational Building Trades program at the Romulus Senior High is a two-year sequence designed to teach students the basics of residential construction and construction maintenance. Students completing the program will have gained construction experience in concrete work, masonry and carpentry. In addition, they have learned related trades such as electrical wiring and plumbing.

During the past year, the Building Trades classes constructed a field house building at the football field. The building is of cement block and wood construction and will house a concession stand and restrooms.

The main construction activity of the past two years has been the building of a residential home. The construction starts in the fall with the building of the basement and ends with the sale of the completed home. Eight homes have been built on Cogswell and Tyler Roads since the program began in 1974.

V.I.C.A. competition

Douglas Hoffman, Recreational Vehicles instructor, and Dan Diebel, Automotive instructor at Romulus Senior High School took four students to the Michigan state VICA Conference at Ferris State College.

VICA is the Vocational Industrial Clubs of America.

Karl Bath, Mike George, and Todd Farrand represented Romulus High as voting delegates. Their duties were to select new state VICA officers and report back to fellow students.

Frank Nehila went to the conference as a competitor in the Automotive Trouble-Shooting contest.

Frank placed third in the Region II, southeast Michigan competition earlier this year.

In the competition at Ferris, Nehila was expected to perform in the areas of front-end alignment, disc brake service, tune-up and diagnosis and engine repair. He represented Romulus well, placing in the top ten in the state.

Government day

Romulus Senior High School top government students celebrated Michigan Week by being involved in the sixth annual Election Day at the City Hall.

Thirty government students from Rod Hanna's and Harry Willnus's government classes were chosen because of their academic achievements to participate. The agenda called for the students to meet city officials to learn the specific jobs and the daily routine of each city official and their departments.

After capturing regional crown

Belleville, Clarkston clash in semis

With phenomenon, Judy Wisniewski, on the mound and in control all the way, Belleville High captured its first Class A Regional Girls' Softball Championship over the weekend in Plymouth.

Wisniewski, who has amassed an incredible 24-1 personal won-lost pitching record and has a .465 ERA, picked up her 12th and 13th shutout of the campaign by crushing Garden City 10-0 in the semi-final round of the regional, then edging a stubborn and pesky Livonia Stevenson 1-0 for the championship.

"I'm very proud of our girls," said Belleville Coach Peggy Curtis, "and I know that the school, community and the parents are as well. What can you say when you've come so far? This team — each and every member — has worked so hard to get where they are today."

Belleville will travel to Midland on Friday to face Clarkston at 5:30 p.m. in the semi-final round of the Class A state finals. A Belleville victory would put them into the finals scheduled for 5:30 p.m. on Saturday against the winner of the Frazer-Brighton contest, scheduled for 3 p.m. on Friday.

"We have been playing very aggressively on defense and offense and we have to play even better, almost flawlessly, to survive this final tournament," Coach Curtis added.

Against Garden City, a walk to Kim Lackey, the Panther pitcher, stood between Wisniewski and a perfect game. The Tiger hurler, otherwise, didn't allow any Garden City baserunner to reach first base. She struck out three and walked one in twirling the no-hitter.

Lackey gave up six hits, walked 10 and struck out two. But her teammates also committed four errors which paved the way for a 5-run sixth inning.

Belleville took the lead in the second inning when Michele Lamache led off with a single, then moved to third when Debbie Sumner's grounder was bobbled, and she eventually scored after Wisniewski walked and was caught in a "run-down" after an unsuccessful attempt to steal second. That play gave Lamache ample time to score.

The Tigers made it a 2-0 ball game in the top of the third when Jill Pence was issued a base on balls, stole second and was bunted to third by Tina Cicotte. Kim Thick's groundout scored Pence.

Belleville then erupted for three runs in the fourth inning on walks to Lamache, Sumner and Sandy Mattson and Wisniewski bounced into a fielder's choice while Pence's single chased in a pair of runs.

In the sixth, Belleville put it away on three walks and four hits. Pence had a key two run single and Mattson doubled while Wisniewski and Thick chipped in with base hits.

In the championship game, Wisniewski and her teammates struck for a first inning run and made it stand up as the difference in the game. In that opening inning, Pence led off with a walk, stole second, then Tina Cicotte sacrificed her to third. Thick's infield single didn't score Pence, so it was up to Debbie Stull, who wacked a ball deep into the outfield allowing Pence to trot home.

Belleville threatened in the third and sixth innings, but couldn't get on the scoreboard as the Tigers left runners on first and third base.

Wisniewski fired a one-hitter against the Spartans of Stevenson, serving up a single to Donna Domenico in the fourth inning. She reached second on an infield error and that was the only Spartan threat of the game.

Belleville will take a 30-1-1 overall record to Midland and it is seeking the first state championship in the school's recent athletic history.

Reds to hold tryouts

A tryout camp for baseball players will be conducted by the Cincinnati Reds on Tuesday, June 21, in Livonia, at Ford Field. The camp is open to all boys from 16 to 22 years of age. High school sophomores and juniors are especially urged to attend.

Reds scouting supervisor, Gene Bennett, will be in charge of the workouts which is scheduled to start promptly at 10 a.m. Bennett will be assisted by Reds scouts Fred Hayes, Joe Carbo, Mel Wysong, Glenn Scala, DeLeon Bruce, Terry Finkbeiner, Jim Ford, NBob Harris, Ken Stack and Herm Kander.

All eligible players are requested to bring their own uniform, glove and shoes. The Reds will furnish all other equipment. In addition, each player will be responsible for his traveling and living expense, if any, unless signed to a contract with the Cincinnati Reds organization.

Players must be 16 years of age to be eligible to participate and all American Legion players must bring written permission from their Post Commander or their Legion Coach in order to try out.

Several of the players now playing baseball in the Major Leagues today were first seen at tryouts camps such as this one and any boy seriously interested in playing professional baseball should make every effort to attend this camp.

Dolphin swimming coach Candi Sharnetsky offers some tips and instructions to swimmers during a recent session at the Wayne High pool where the "second season" will get on its way for age-group club beginning June 20. The Wayne Recreation sponsored Dolphins have set practice for swimmers Monday through Friday from 7 a.m. until 9 a.m. for 13 and up Class A and B boys and girls; 12 to 1 p.m., 8 and under boys and girls, and 9 to 14 "C" swimmers boys and girls.

A third group will commence swimming at 1 p.m. until 3 p.m. for ages 9 through 12. There is a $25 registration fee with a $75 cap for three or more swimmers in one family. Registration will be accepted at the Wayne Community Center or by telephoning Jim McPartlin at 728-0349. Those who missed tryouts may take part in a June 20 tryout at Wayne Memorial scheduled for Wayne Memorial pool.

Another all-time hero recalled

BY ALAN WALTZ (ANP Special Columnist)

Where are our past heroes?

Here's another column from out of the past.

As I mentioned in last week's column, in the weeks to come we would be talking about some more of the men who were the unsung heroes around Wayne many years ago...men who were dedicated to the upbringing of the young boys around Wayne shortly after World War II ended.

This week's story is about Angelo Demario who came to Wayne about the same time as Dick Robb and was named to run the Wayne Recreation Department after the sudden death of Harry Ranch.

"Ange," as we all knew him, went to the U. of South Carolina where he played football and was good enough to earn a tryout with the Detroit Lions even after joining the recreation department here in Wayne.

We all remember how he would get us out on the football field and bring a real live N.F.L. ball with him and throw passes to us...passes that would just about take our arms out of their sockets...in addition he would show us how to punt, usually putting them up about 60 yards in the air while we all gasped that such a little guy could kick a football that far.

We didn't realize that even though he wasn't very tall he was a solid 205 lbs of muscle.

He also umpired the softball games around Wayne and was instrumental in setting up inter-school softball programs with each school (6th, 7th and 8th graders).

At the same time he set up a hardball program down in the old flats. He kept us busy; hardball games at 10 a.m. and softball games at 6:30 in the evenings quite often on the same days.

At that time, all the parents loved him for now there was something for the boys to look forward to during the long hot summers around town. No one complained about getting supper at 9 o'clock in the evening and things haven't changed that much since that time...I hope.

Several boys moved here from Detroit back then and as soon as they saw the big open ball fields they were "hooked" after spending their play-ground days in Detroit in an alley about 30 feet wide...you know. If you hit it straight down the middle of the alley fine, but if you pulled one foul into someone's finely groomed backyard the people usually kept the ball...end of game.

Ange also set up the first football teams (little league) to come out of Wayne with helmets and shoulder pads and pants and jerseys just like the big time. He would kid the smaller boys telling them they had to start playing center or guard and work their way up.

After about two plays with someone running over them, (See Hero Page C-2)

TO CITIZENS OF BELLEVILLE

The city has offered Spring Clean-up during the month of May for some time and, beginning this year, there will also be a Fall Clean-up during the entire month of October. This will enable all households to dispose of large items and brush.

If a special pickup is requested at any time other than the designated periods, a fee of ten dollars ($10.00) will be charged and will be payable in advance of the item being picked up.

Also, a reminder that all dogs six months old or older are required, by ordinance, to be licensed — this is to ensure that all dogs are vaccinated against rabies and enable our Police Department to maintain a record of owner's names and telephone numbers in case a dog is lost.

Licenses are available in the Treasurer's office for a fee of five dollars ($5.00) and a current certificate of vaccination must be shown. Avoid penalties and/or fines by applying before July 31, 1983.

If you have any questions or need assistance in any city matter, please feel free to contact me at the city hall or telephone 697-9323.

Masters at karate

Area karate experts received awards and promotions recently as they passed tests held at Holy Redeemer Church in Detroit. Deborah Ison of Westland and Williams Banks of Romulus, First Degree Black Belts in Tae Kwon Do American Chung Do Kwan, were tested and promoted to the rank of Second Degree Black Belt. Miss Ison is head instructor at the Bailey Recreation Center in Westland. Her protegee, Sherri Brooks of Wayne, who is 16-years-old also earned the rank of First Degree Black Belt. Pictured above are Master Karate expert-instructor Raymond Sell, (from left), Sherri Brook, Deborah Ison and George Modos, also a master.

Recalling another hero

the little guys soon realized that if they were going to be football players they better get mean in order to move up to the backfield. His way with kids was super. Always smiling and kidding around, nary a boy didn't worship the ground he walked on; a true father on the playgrounds.
Another little known fact about Ange was that if a boy's father or mother happened to leave this world suddenly and without notice, Ange was at the funeral home to let the boy know that everything would be all right and that it was God's will even though the boy had a difficult time understanding that at that particular time.

He would also call the boys every few days to see that they didn't get depressed and stop coming back to the playgrounds.
And now for the good stuff.
Ange started those Friday night dances at the old recreation building on Wayne Rd. and many a permanent romance started there and is still going strong with lots of children and grandchildren roaming around Wayne now.
One night after a big dance was over, it was raining real hard and a few kids didn't have a way home so Ange called cabs for all of them and paid their way home.

Quite a guy.
Unfortunately as things happen Ange passed away many years ago but his legacy still carries on in Wayne and every time you pass by the Senior Citizens apartments on Wayne Road and Sims take a long look down there along the river and if you look real close...where the old ball field was and the old shed where all the equipment was kept...well you know what I mean...yeah, he's still down there.
If you don't believe me, try it some time and you'll see what I mean.

'Year of Surprises' Zebras end net season

This was a year of surprises for Wayne Memorial's tennis team. And it was one of ups-and-downs for Coach Hunt's netters.
The Zebras season was one of surprises. Captain Mike Jbara led an upset against Westland John Glenn in the season opener, winning 4-3.
Flushed with victory, the netters went on to defeat traditional tennis power, Monroe, in a Great Lakes 8 Conference confrontation.

Following a first-match route by undefeated Wyandotte, Wayne Memorial's rematch narrowly missed a third upset. The absence of fourth singles player Marc Scoggins resulted in a 3-4 defeat.
At the Great Lakes Eight League tournament, Wayne's top player Matt Hunt and third singles Juhani Kalliovaara engineered two more surprises. Each won firsts in his flight. Hunt outlasted Taylor Truman's Barry Buha 6-7, 7-5, 6-3 while Kalliovaara bested Monroe's Robert Rhee.

Both Hunt and Kalliovaara capped off their rookie seasons with All-league medals. Sophomore Matt Hunt was named the League's Most Valuable Player.
Senior, Juhani Kalliovaara was picked the Zebras' Most Valuable Player.

Hunt's season record was 16-4 and Kalliovaara 19-2. Captain Jabara finished with a 14-7 record followed by Scoggins' 10-7 season.
Doubles team were Ken Marshall and Matt Runyan, Doug Taylor and Dan Combs, Jerry Beaver and Dennis Korzettke.
Wayne finished fourth in the league behind Fordson, Wyandotte, and Monroe.

Westland's Dest passes baseball test

Mike Dest, a graduate of John Glenn High School, has received his first-year baseball letter from Saginaw Valley State College.
The freshman Westland native started in the outfield for the Cardinals and despite hitting at only a .218 pace, he led SVSC in walks with 21. SVSC first-year Baseball Coach Walt Head feels the 6-0, 180-pounder is a fine fielder.

"Mike is an excellent defensive outfielder and we're hoping he will improve with the bat," said Head.
The Cardinals ended their season with a disappointing 11-29 record, but came on strong to earn a spot in the NAIA District 23 tournament.

With 12 letter winners returning and a good start on recruiting, Head can see clear skies ahead for next season. "If recruiting continues to go well I see no reason why we can't be in the hunt for the Great Lakes Conference crown," said Head. "The District 23 tournament should be an every year occasion for Saginaw Valley."

Mike is the son of Joyce and Paul Dest of 532 Bryar in Westland.

Lutri, ex-Glenn, Belleville coach named to SVSC grid position

Saginaw Valley State College Head Football Coach George Ihler announced the hiring of former Belleville and John Glenn Coach Gerald (Jerry) M. Lutri as new offensive coordinator.

The 35-year-old Lutri replaces Dan Flynn who had signed with SVSC on a temporary basis this spring. Flynn returned to his duties at Escanaba High School.

Lutri comes to SVSC by way of Kent State University, where he served as an assistant coach last season. His coaching background includes assistant duties at Eastern Michigan University (1977-78), Boston College (1978-81), Westland John Glenn High School, and at Belleville.

He led John Glenn to a 9-0 record in 1977 during his only stint as a head coach.

"He's obviously been exposed to very good football," said Ihler. "He helped turn the programs around at Eastern and Boston College. Boston College is big time football."

Lutri views the move to SVSC in a positive way. "The excitement of building a program has to be the biggest thrill. I think that's more important than stepping into an established program and keeping it going."

"We turned two programs around and I think we were headed in the right direction at Kent State," said Lutri. "I'm anxious to help George turn it around at Saginaw Valley and to help make it a winner."

The Stephenson native's main responsibility as offensive coordinator will be coaching the offensive line. The 6-5, 280-pound graduate of Northern Michigan University is familiar with line play, having lettered four years with the Wildcats. He was drafted by the Dallas Cowboys and played offensive tackle one season in the National Football League.

"He has a strong Detroit background for recruiting," added Ihler. "He's been recognized as a good recruiter over the years."

"The first thing we'll do is sit down and talk about the offense we're going to run," explained

Ihler. "Then we'll sit down as a staff and try to give him some insight on how spring practice went. We'll try to give him our overall evaluations of our personnel."

"The people we're working with are strong coaches that came from winning backgrounds," said Ihler of the staff, all of which will be working together for the first time. "Sometimes it's good to have several new people working together because you tend to come up with fresh ideas."

Lutri agrees. "I think everybody is excited to get it rolling and start changing things around at Saginaw Valley."

Lutri and his wife Mary were married last summer.

Karabees also to coach CH girl tankers

Debbie Karabees, who guided the Cherry Hill boys' swim teams to an untarnished 6-0 Tri-River Conference dual meet record and the conference championship, was named last week as coach of the Spartans' girls' swim coach.

Karabee, an assistant to Wayne Beerbower until she moved up to the head coaching job at the beginning of the 1982-83 campaign, coached the boys' team last year to a sixth place finish in the state.

Cherry Hill is seeking swimmers

If you are between the ages of 6 and 18 and wish to learn or improve your swimming skills, the Cherry Hill Swim Club wants to hear from you.

The club is seeking swimmers for its summer program which is held between 8:30 a.m. and 11 a.m. for various age groups Monday through Friday.

Residents and non-residents are invited to register, beginning at 8:30 a.m., Monday, June 20, at the Cherry Hill High School pool.

There is a $25 registration fee for non-varsity and a $10 fee for varsity swimmers. For further information, contact Coach Debbie Karabees at 722-5901.

The Cherry Hill Swim Club will also host a diving clinic for 8 year olds and up at 8 a.m. until noon on Wed., June 22 at the high school facility. The one-day clinic costs $5 and will be instructed by Chris Winkel, a former Eastern Michigan diver and Debbie Karabees, who is an ex-Michigan State diver.

A senior life-saving course will be offered from 1 to 4 p.m. on June 20. There is a $20 registration fee and a life-saving card will be awarded upon completion of the course.

Any girl who is interested in swimming for the Cherry Hill Varsity Swim Team should report to the 8:30 a.m., Mon., June 20 session.

There is also an adult swim class being offered for beginners who wish to learn or so improve swim skills. The new course, an 8-week session at a cost of $17.50, will begin on July 5.

Dolphins award two swim scholarships

MARY BATTERSON

ERIC HEAD

The Wayne Recreation Dolphins Swim Club has awarded their annual scholarships to Mary Batterson and Eric Head from Wayne Memorial High School.

The scholarships are given by the club to encourage and assist senior boys and girls to continue their education. The students are selected based on their grade point average, their participation in the annual Dolphin fund-raisers, and their achievement of at least on e "A" swim time in grades 10 through 12.

Miss Batterson has been a member of the Wayne Dolphins for eight years and Head has been a member for 10 years. Both have had impressive swim careers with the club, as well as in high school.

Mary holds 11 individual Dolphin records in various age groups and events, along with seven individual and two relay records at Wayne High.

Eric holds 12 individual Dolphin records in various age groups and events, along with four individual and two relay records at Wayne High. Mary and Eric have also represented Wayne Memorial High School in the state finals.

Both plan to attend Eastern Michigan University in the Fall.

PUSH Band promoted by Wayne businessman

By DENNIS NIEMIEC
Feature Editor

"The hardest thing in life is getting people to pay attention," Jim Bolton said with a sigh.

As owner of Jn Signs in Wayne, Bolton's work is to make customers take notice through the usage of innovative displays and graphics. Among his clients is Little Caesar's Enterprises, which recently placed one sample of Bolton's creations in Hong Kong.

But grabbing such notice in the incredibly competitive world of rock and roll is another matter as Bolton is discovering in his role as manager of the up and coming PUSH Band. For several years he's dealt with radio stations, club owners, booking agents and promoters in hopes of attracting more exposure for the four-member group.

Of course, his interest has been both professional and paternal since his son Terry, 23, is the band's founder and drummer.

"Terry started drumming when he was seven," Bolton recalled during a break from his sign construction efforts. "We listened to it till he turned 20 and left the house. He's been in four different bands since he was 13."

"Don't ask me to describe their style," he added, referring to the PUSH Band. "I see them perform at least once a week...I love the music. Their product has really improved."

Judging by the group's schedule, recognition is starting to come their way. In addition to a three-night stint at The Music Box in Westland (June 23 thru 25) the band has performance dates in East Detroit, Dearborn Heights, Toledo, Lemington, Ontario, and Wyandotte in upcoming weeks. Not to mention a video taping for cable television and the recent release of their debut single, "Playin' with Fire" and "Hungry Eyes".

Twelve hour days and seven-day weeks are part of the business, Bolton pointed out. And with good reason.

"There's so much talent out there," the 43-year-old manager emphasized. "On every city block you'll find a group of young kids playing music. There's thousands of them. No band stays more than a week at any one place, two weeks at the most. It's a tough racket."

"Getting proper exposure is the key as well as public acceptance of the product."

The PUSH Band's "product" includes what one reviewer termed "a light show that would leave most bands in the dark." Some of the electrical work was designed by Bolton's company, including the electronic logo used in their live show.

Along with Terry Bolton, the band members are Rick DeNoyer, Chris Stuba and Earl Crafft, who was recently injured in a stage mishap. Terry Connell has been tabbed to replace Crafft for upcoming gigs. Their goal is simple, to write music and play concerts, their manager noted.

"This band knows that actions speak louder than words," a reviewer wrote following a recent performance. "They've got their actions together in such a way that any person caught in the midst of their musical frenzy can't help but be swept off their chair only to hit the ground dancing."

Pretty heavy stuff for a band that owes its name to a trash can.

"Terry and a friend were having a 'Big Mac' some years ago when his friend noticed the word 'Push' on the dumpster," Bolton said. "Terry liked the name and later we registered it."

Will the PUSH Band be the next local group to go national? After 20 years in business, Bolton is both hopeful and realistic.

"Business is business," he declared. "This (band manager) is not a hobby. According to our agreement, once they (the band) go past $100,000 per year, then I get a percentage."

It's a goal both the band and the manager are striving for.

Glee club honored

Craig Symons of Wayne is a member of the Wayne State University Men's Glee Club, which recently placed second in the national finals of the Johnny Mann Great American Choral Festival.

The Glee Club had qualified for the national finals, held in Ann Arbor, by winning a statewide competition in February. The singers won a prize of $5,000 for their second-place finish.

Broadway shows recreated

Some 22 Broadway musicals will be highlighted in the Spotlight Players' production of "Broadway Musical Revue" scheduled at 8 p.m. Thursday through Saturday at the John Glenn High School cafeteria, 36105 Marquette in Westland.

The show will be set in a cabaret format with acts grouped together according to theme. A chorus line girl will introduce each act.

Fourteen directors and a large cast will handle the various scenes, including many newcomers to the local theatre scene.

Tickets for this

Wayne-Westland Community Theatre venture are priced at $4 for adults and $3 for students under 18 and senior citizens. Contact 595-6117 for further information.

Gallery to open Sunday

"Sunday Afternoon," the Detroit Institute of Arts' meeting place, will reopen in the museum's newly restored Crystal Gallery this Sunday from 1 to 4 p.m., and will continue each Sunday, year-round, excepting holidays.

Well known area pianist Bess Bonnier will perform light classics and jazz, as well as current popular music and the best of Broadway, at the antique grand piano especially selected for Crystal Gallery.

Guests will be offered a menu of pastries, desserts, exotic coffees and teas, and a variety of specialty beverages — champagne cocktails, Bloody Marys, Mimosa, and others — with prices ranging from $1.50 to $4. There will be a $1.50 per person cover charge and no reservations are necessary.

Crystal Gallery, closed for six months, has been completely restored to the neo-classic style of its original opening in 1928.

For ticket information and detailed schedules of events, call the museum ticket office at 832-2730.

New sound system featured at Greg's

Live entertainment never sounded better at Greg's Emergency Room, located at Palmer and Merriman across from the Wayne County General Hospital.

Owner Greg Reid has spared little expense in purchasing a new sound system designed to provide comfortable rather than overwhelming volume levels. His $15,000 investment not only has improved the sounds of the live bands which perform every Thursday, Friday and Saturday, it also has enriched the music featured throughout the week on his new juke box.

Not wanting to see such an intricate system wasted, he has booked a number of versatile bands in upcoming weeks. Starting Thursday night, Stranger (formerly The Renegades) will perform for two weekends followed by The Basics for five weekends and Scooter, a group which will debut in the area on Aug. 4.

"These bands play everything from the 50's through the 80's," said Reid, who is celebrating the recent birth of his son, Shawn. Greg and his wife, Susan, also are the parents of another boy, Greg Jr.

Of course, live and recorded music is only a part of the success story at Greg's Emergency Room.

First and foremost there's the special prices for food and drinks.

Lunchtime sandwiches are priced to fit any pocketbook and the Friday special of battered cod with french fries, cole slaw and bread rates with any around. An all-you-can-eat bargain, the fish meal is served each Friday from 11 a.m. till 7 p.m. for $3.25.

"Beer Bust Nite" is celebrated every Sunday with a pitcher of beer priced at $2 (7 p.m. till midnight) and a ground steak sandwich at $1.25.

On Tuesday Reid acknowledges the lounge's active sponsorship of athletic teams with a "Complete the Roundtripper" promotion. Hot dogs cost only 25 cents and a pitcher of beer goes for $2.50. Players in uniform are charged daytime prices for a pitcher of beer.

Drinks are priced at $1 on Thursdays for Ladies Nite and an Early Bird Special on Thursday, Friday and Saturday offers two drinks for one price from 9 p.m. until 9:30 p.m.

The kitchen at the remodeled lounge remains open till 1 a.m. For more information on upcoming band performances or special food and drink promotions, contact Reid by calling 595-4888.

There is no cover charge.

Greg Reid, owner of Greg's Emergency Room, displays the control board and part of his new, $15,000 sound system now in use at his lounge, located at Palmer and Merriman across from Wayne County General Hospital. The new sound system, which includes a new juke box, provides comfortable listening for patrons entertained every Thursday, Friday and Saturday nights by live bands.

Canton golf festival set

The Third Annual Canton Festival Golf Tournament, sponsored by the Canton Parks and Recreation Department, is slated for 11 a.m. June 19 at Fellows Creek Golf Course.

The tournament will be a three-person scrambles team concept and the tournament is open to all area golfers. There is a $33 per team registration fee. Awards will be presented to the top three teams as well as to the participant with the longest drive and the one coming closest to the pin.

Further information and registration are available at the recreation department office or by phoning, 397-1000. The final day for entry is June 17.

Walking away from crime

By CATHY HORSTE

Some people are under the mistaken impression that robberies happen only to banks and rapes only happen to women who pick up hitchhikers. Nothing could be further from the truth. The familiar refrain that, "it isn't even safe to walk the streets anymore" has, unfortunately, proven itself to be only too true.

Certainly, no one wants to yield to criminals by staying behind locked doors. There is a choice, and that choice is to exercise care. Here are a few crime reducing suggestions which should be put into practice when walking at night:

- There is safety in numbers. Never walk alone at night.
- Avoid walking on dimly lit streets and stay out of alleys. Never take remote or little traveled shortcuts.
- When working afternoons, use the "buddy system" to leave the building and cross the parking lot. Have your car keys out of your purse and in your hand before going out.

- Walk on the section of the sidewalk closest to the street and away from shrubbery, trees and doorways. Sometimes it is even safer to walk in the street rather than on the sidewalk.
- If someone drops you off near your home, have them wait until you are in the house before they drive away.

- Women should carry a loud whistle or other noisemaker, and use it if accosted.
- If you think you are being followed, head for any lighted area. Walk with confidence — most attackers are looking for a victim who looks vulnerable.

Remember not to drop your guard when walking in an area that is familiar to you. Exercise care at all times. Walk away from crime rather than into it! For more information on this or other crime prevention topics, call Van Buren Township Crime Prevention Officer, Cathy Horste, 699-2003.

Romulus' Rose Phelan awarded weekend College degree

Romulus resident Rose Phelan recently graduated from Mercy College of Detroit's Weekend College. She was awarded a Bachelor of Science degree in health services.

"I think the Weekend College program is ideal for working adults," said Phelan, explaining why she enrolled in Weekend College. "If it wasn't for Weekend College, I probably would not have gone back to school."

Phelan, who is a registered nurse and a nursing administrative manager at Children's Hospital, said since her involvement with Mercy, many other associates and colleagues have also turned to Weekend College as an alternative to night school.

Phelan said she plans to continue as a nursing administrative manager while taking on an additional role as quality assurance chairperson for Children's Nursing Department.

Weekend College (WEC), offering six major areas of study, is an educational opportunity for adults whose employment and/or family schedules are incompatible with college attendance during the regular week.

Weekend College classes generally meet five times in a semester with two Saturdays between each session. Meetings last about four hours. Students supplement classroom work with directed outside study which enables them to cover the same course content and meet the same academic standards as their counterparts in traditional college programs. Classes meet during the Fall and Winter semesters and Summer session.

WEC students have access to Mercy's modern library and extensive media resources. They are able to transfer credit from previous college courses and to receive academic credit for pertinent professional experience. In addition, they are eligible for financial aid.

Adults interested in earning a college degree by attending classes on Saturdays can find out more at the Spring Weekend College Open House held on Tuesday, June 14 and Thursday, June 16 from 5 to 7 p.m. in the college's Conference Center.

For more information call the Admissions office at 592-6030.

Maintain your circle of friends for less.

Circle Calling: an optional calling plan from Michigan Bell that could save you money on your next phone bill. Your best friend lives less than 30 miles away, but it's a Long Distance call each time you phone. Maybe you call less often than you'd like just to save on your monthly phone bill.

There's another way: With the Circle Calling plan from Michigan Bell, you save 30% on Long Distance calls placed within a 30-mile radius of your calling center.

In addition, the low $3.13* monthly charge includes $1.83 worth of discounted Long Distance calls.

The Circle Calling discount is in effect all the time except Monday through Friday mornings from 8 a.m. to noon and applies even when other regular Long Distance discounts are in effect.

So if you find that you place a significant number of Long Distance calls up to 30 miles away within Michigan, check into Circle Calling.

Circle Calling is just one way Michigan Bell can help you trim the cost of your telephone bill.

There are others.

Budget Toll Dialing, for instance. If you are a frequent Long Distance user, Budget Toll Dialing will give you a 30% discount on the already discounted Long Distance rates in effect when you place your calls within Michigan. Just dial direct from 10 p.m. to 8 a.m. Sunday evening through Friday morning and from 5 p.m. Friday till 5 p.m. Sunday.

For a monthly charge of just $3.13*

Budget Toll Dialing with its discounted Long Distance rates can quickly pay for itself.

So if you think that Circle Calling or Budget Toll Dialing could help save you money, call toll free 1 800 482-8060 for additional information. They could prove to be your best all-around calling values.

Call 1 800 482-8060 today!

*Taxes and one-time service charge not included. Effective May 19, 1983, a temporary 4.49% surcharge will be applied.
